MAN KILLED AS AUTO PLUNGES OFF BRIDGE HIGH COURT

CAR CRASHES THROUGH GATE AND UP LIFT

Accident Involves Two Oshkosh Men, One Killed, the Other Fatally Hurt
DROVE AT FAST SPEED
Driver Evidently Did Not See Manitowoc "Jack Knife" Was Being Raised

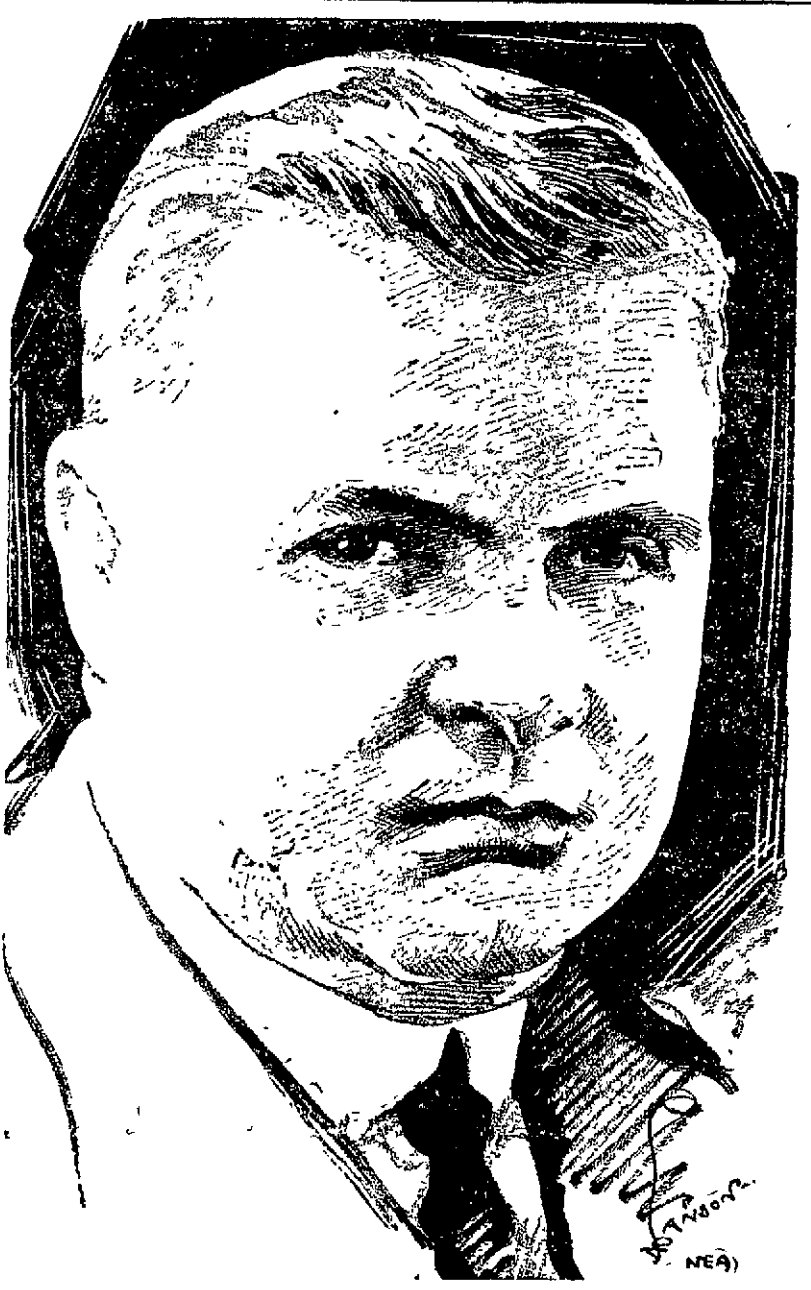

Manitowoc—(AP)—One is dead and another is at that hospital with only a fighting chance for life as the result of an accident at the Tenth-street bridge here Monday night when a coupe driven by W. J. Knapp, salesman for the Crane Co. Oshkosh, went through the gate at the bridge, plunged over the lift and was carried into the river. The dead man is Warren J. Knapp, 23, of Oshkosh. His body was recovered Tuesday morning. William Cavanaugh, 35, sales manager for the Wisconsin Light and Fuel company, with headquarters at Kalamazoo, Mich., is in the hospital probably fatally injured as a result of a fractured skull.

The accident happened at 12:01 Tuesday morning, witnesses of the two men having stopped at that hour. The car which was taken from the river Tuesday morning had the top torn off and was badly damaged.

Cavanaugh arrived here Monday to look after coke sales at the local plant of his company and during the day met Knapp, the two having been previously acquainted. Last evening they visited with friends for dinner and spent the evening at the Means home. Park-st. here, leaving there at 11:55 to return to their hotel.

The men evidently failed to see the barricade and must have been driving at a fair rate of speed as the car was carried through the barrier and up and over the taking bridge before the bridge tender could halt the lift. Bystanders rescued Cavanaugh but were unable to stop Knapp whose body was recovered later.

DRAWS LIFE SENTENCE

Still protesting his innocence, D. C. Stephenson, former Klondike, was sentenced Monday to life imprisonment following the conviction on a charge of murder in the second degree in connection with the death of Miss Madge Oberholzer of Indianapolis who ended her life with poison after she had confessed to having been abducted and attacked by Stephenson.

Anybody Can Drive Fast, Safe Driving Is An Art

Chicago, Ill.—(AP)—The automobile driver who goes faster does not drive better, says Charles M. Hawes, president of the Chicago Motor club. Years ago the man who could drive fast was considered a good driver but times have changed.

"Any fool can drive fast now," declared Mr. Hawes.

"The good driver is made through experience and education. He is always on the alert for danger. Here are some of the things that indicate a 'good driver':

"He stops at railroad crossings and looks both ways before crossing.

"On a grade he always crosses in low speed.

"He stops before emerging from an alley, and blows his horn.

"He signals his intentions to those in the rear.

"He never pulls away from a curb without looking back to see if the road is clear.

"He gets over on the inside of the wheel when turning left and he pulls over near the curb when turning right.

"He never passes another car coming in the same direction at a street intersection, he knows pedestrians are injured that way.

"He slows down when passing schools, churches, or buildings where public gatherings take place.

"He never passes another car on a hill or curve.

"He gives the right of way to cars approaching from the right.

"He slows down to 10 miles an hour at street car crossings.

"He is courteous to other motorists and to pedestrians.

"He knows the laws and ordinances and obeys them. Every one likes to ride with the good driver."

SENDS GUARDS TO HEAD OFF KENTUCKY MOB

Slaying of Sheriff Starts New Feud Outbreak in Backwoods Mountains

Hazard, Ky.—(AP)—Leaving here at 6 o'clock in the morning with 24 men Captain James W. Woolen, 149th Infantry, Kentucky National guard is expected to arrive late Tuesday at Hidden seat of Leslie, in the mountain hinterland of Kentucky, to which no roads lead, to disperse a mob reported to be seeking the slayer of Sheriff Joe Morgan, killed Saturday.

Dave Steel accused of the slaying is reported to be barricaded in the Citizens bank at Hidden while friends of the dead man march up and down the streets equally well armed, uttering threats of vengeance if they capture Steel. The slayer would surrender if it is declared if he felt he would be given protection, but fears he would fall into the hands of the mob.

ELECTION OUTCOME

The slaying is said to have been the outcome of an election for the successor of the man later slain. Morgan's wife having been defeated by two votes.

"Look at me square in the eye," Morgan is said to have greeted Steel Saturday. The shooting followed immediately.

They had come to talk over differences in regard to the election. Almost as the sheriff fell, his feudist faction began aiming. Steel paraded immediately followed suit.

Flinging by the feudists into the county courthouse and a wild ride by County Judge Jason Combs to this place to inform Governor William J. Fields of the disorder were immediate sequences. The governor is in this part of the state on a road inspection trip.

GO ON HORSE

The troops making the trip are forced to go on horseback as there is no vehicular road to the troubled section. They were ordered out by the governor from Hindman, where he was found by Judge Combs' message. Telephone wires being down, no further communication has come to the place from the scene of trouble where it is declared hundreds of armed men are preparing for a pitched battle.

Steel accused of the slaying is an influential lumberman, of eastern Kentucky. Morgan's wife ran to succeed him but was defeated by her Republican opponent, C. W. Revis, by two votes, and Steel, as one of the violent election officers who refused to count a number of votes for Mrs. Morgan on the ground that ballots were spoiled was charged by the candidate's husband with having illegally caused her defeat. He was preparing to contest the election when he met Steel and was killed.

EXPLAINS WHY HE IS AFTER BIG BOOTLEGGERS

New York—(AP)—The question whether prosecution of petty violators of the prohibition law should be abandoned in order to punish the big ones is leading to a prolonged long range debate between Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon league and Emory R. Buchner, federal district attorney in New York and padlocker extraordinary. Mr. Wheeler complained to President Coolidge Monday about Mr. Buchner's policy of concentrating on bootleggers.

Forthwith Mr. Buchner, just after forging a padlock for the Elk's club, wrote Mr. Wheeler:

"Please come over to New York and tell me concretely just what judges are to try the petty violators, where the courtrooms are to be located and just where I am to get assistants to prosecute, at the same time abandoning my drive on the restaurants who openly violate the law and my drive on the wealthy bootleggers who have grown rich from law breaking."

TELLS COURT OF EFFORT TO "FIX" WIDOW

Mrs. Lansdowne Says Judge Advocate Wanted to "Re-hearse" Testimony

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Mrs. Margaret Lansdowne told the Shenandoah court Tuesday that she had not used the explanation "false testimony" in describing in a newspaper interview the efforts she said were made to guide her testimony before the court.

Describing Captain Foley's visit to her before she appeared in court the first time, Mrs. Lansdowne said that those present included Mrs. Foley and Dr. and Mrs. William B. Mason, an uncle and aunt.

"The first half hour was taken up with social conversation on," she said. "I got very bored and finally said, 'Well Captain Foley, what's the court going to do with me?' He replied, 'What are you going to do to the court?'"

WANTED PRACTICE

"I told Captain Foley I preferred to tell the court what I had to say. He said, 'Yes, but let's rehearse it now, what's on your mind? What's the object of your appearance?'"

"I heard the object was to lay emphasis on the fact that the court had evaded what is regarded as an important matter, that of the official correspondence sustained by statement immediately after the accident, and this had been slurred over."

Capt. Foley told her, she said, that the court was not to question her, that she merely was to make a statement.

"My uncle said, 'Captain Foley, I think that is fair enough,'" she said. Then she said, her uncle excused himself and went into the hall beckoned to her to follow him and said to her: "Don't promise him a damned thing. He is not here for your good."

Mrs. Lansdowne said Captain Foley argued with her against saying that the Shenandoah flight was a political flight and urged her not to let her "make a long statement." Then Captain Foley said to my uncle, "I'm afraid Mrs. Lansdowne is going to make a difficult witness." My uncle replied, "No, she is going to tell the truth and that should not give you any trouble. That was good night. The conversation ended there."

She then told of receiving the next day the celebrated statement from Captain Foley, which she understood she was to read to court.

EJECT LAWYER

Joseph Davies counsel for Mrs. Lansdowne, was ejected from the court of inquiry Tuesday by a marine guard. Judge Advocate Leonard objected that "witnesses are not in the status requiring representation by counsel" and the court after a conference announced that it objected also to the appearance and manner of the lawyer's appearance.

APPLETON GIRL WINS FAME AS OPERA STAR

Chicago—(AP)—Luella Melius, a native of Appleton, Wis., and a resident of Chicago, will make her American debut in "Rigoletto" to be presented by the Chicago Civic Opera company Thursday night. She arrived here Tuesday after six years spent in Europe. The singer is credited with being the only American coloratura soprano to have sung in the French National Opera company.

Senators Would Hamper Tax Dodging By Making Slashes Cover 2 Years

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1926 by Post Pub. Co.

Washington, D. C.—Definite steps will be taken at the forthcoming session of congress to make the new tax law cover more than a single year.

The bill being framed by the house ways and means committee will apply on all earnings of the year 1925 which are payable next March but there is a feeling in congress that even when the estimates of the treasury as to the probable surplus for the next fiscal year are analyzed there will be an opportunity or at least a demand for further tax revision a year from this December, too.

Shall the law be constantly revised? Treasury experts say it is expensive to administer a constantly changing law and that avoidance and evasion multiply when there is an expectation of a lower tax rate right along.

The Democrats in 1918 framed a law that specified the rates for two succeeding years and thus hoped to go in to the 1920 presidential campaign with the credit of having reduced taxes. The Republicans were unable to make any further reductions—at least with the condition of the revenues then they did not like to tackle it, so they let the law alone.

If the Republicans who are in power fear that they may lose control of the senate as seems to be possible judging

CHANCE BREAKS UP ROMANCE OF HARDING COUSIN

Girl of 15 Repents of Running Away to Seek Friendship of Navy Officer

Norfolk, Va.—(AP)—Thoughts of navy sweethearts, a movie that involved them, and a $20 bill carried Isabelle Bennet, 15-year-old second cousin of the late President Harding and her chum, Sarah Cohen 15 into three days of romantic adventure on the highways — and Isabelle returned penitently homeward again to New York.

Bare chance — in the person of Mrs. Harris Stokes, a traveler's aid worker frustrated the venture in the end after a nationwide search had been made for the girls but not until their last nickles had established all things certain here with the objectives of the journey — Chief Petty Officer A. J. Regan and Seaman William E. Blackwell.

Miss Bennett, a little weary from two sleepless nights and the various modes of travel "I took to get here, left for New York Monday night, eager to be near familiar scenes again but her companion has disclosed a more serious purpose. She wired her parents last night for permission to marry Seaman Blackwell, whose enlistment expires Saturday, and is waiting for the answer. Because of her age parental permission is required under the state laws.

"You can fine me for contempt or send me to jail," he shouted at the tribunal As Admiral Hilary P. Jones, president of the court rapped vigorously for order, an assistant judge advocate called a marine who threw his arm over Davies' shoulder and led him outside the rail.

TO ASK DISMISSAL OF $250,000 BALM SUIT

Milwaukee—(AP)—Dismissal of a $250,000 suit for alienation of affections brought by Jerome W. Bradley, manager of a riding academy, against Charles O. Forster, millionaire lumberman and father-in-law of the plaintiff, was to be asked Tuesday in circuit court by attorneys for the defendant on the ground that Bradley was contemplating a trip to South America and would not be in Milwaukee at the time the case goes to trial.

Attorneys for the plaintiff resisted the motion and denied a claim that Bradley was contemplating dropping the case. Arguments will be heard next week.

APPROVES CAB CURTAINS

Denies State Railroad Commission Right to Pass on Chippewa Dam Project

Madison—(AP)—Col. William Mitchell, who is being tried by a court martial in connection with his criticism of the nation's air service, must pay $2,000 a year more toward the support of three children "as Wisconsin supreme court ruled Tuesday."

The court affirmed his former wife Caroline S. Mitchell increasing his allowance from $4,500 to $6,500 a year.

The constitutionality of the cab curtain law was upheld in the Milwaukee Journal vs. General Accident Assurance corporation the court affirmed an order compelling a demurrer of the insurance company, the court dismissed liquor charges against Tony Testolin of Fond du Lac. It denied the railroad commission to pass on the lease of the Chippewa Power company's dam, the sentence of Mrs. A. P. Hansen of Green Bay for a prohibition offense was affirmed in the home brew case of Joseph A. Endish and Alois Bauer of Mineral Point, however the case against Bauer was entirely dismissed and all except one count against Endish was thrown out, and the latter's sentence was modified, the court upheld the decision in the Bussowicz case from Milwaukee, it reversed the Aitchison case in which compensation was awarded Mrs. Leigh Aitchison on the ground that she was an employee of a firm which she headed when she was injured in the course of employment. It affirmed the sentence of Michael Glasheen for embezzlement of school funds.

PAY LOWERED

The air service controversy which resulted in Col. William Mitchell's reduction from the ranks of brigadier general when he was relieved as assistant chief of the army air service, was brought into the case in which he opposed his former wife's request for an increase in allowance for their children.

Mrs. Caroline S. Mitchell from whom the aviator was divorced in 1922, obtained an order in Milwaukee circuit court last February, increasing the allowance for support of their three children from $4,500 to $6,500 a year.

Counsel for Colonel Mitchell declared his income would be diminished by his reduction in rank. Attorneys for Mrs. Mitchell, on the other hand, sought to show that her income had decreased, at the same time contending that the aviator's income from sources other than his salary as an army officer had become larger, offsetting the cut in his pay.

(Colonel Mitchell is a resident of Milwaukee and his former wife lives in Washington, D. C.)

PARENTS FIND BABY DEAD FROM CHLOROFORM

Chicago, Ill.—(AP)—A six-week-old baby was found chloroformed in its crib early Tuesday in the parents, John R. Allen and his wife in their hotel suite.

A wall, containing $1,000 and jewelry of about the same value were in the room and untouched. The outer door of the room was locked.

The police have little to support an early theory that burglars had ransacked the room, except that the dead infant's crib blankets and other furnishings were disarranged. Detectives conceded that a pass key would have opened the locked door while the mother was in the second room beyond and her nurse, Miss Caroline Forgan was in the middle room. The police have begun by questioning the nurse who had attended the mother for several months.

ONLY ONE DRIVE FOR SOCIETIES IN WELFARE COUNCIL

Charitable Organizations Elect
Officers and Prepare for
Campaign

Any organization included in Appleton Welfare Council which engages in a separate campaign for funds in Appleton will be barred hereafter from participation in the proceeds of campaigns conducted by the welfare council. It was decided at a meeting of the organization in the chamber of commerce Monday night. The welfare council's annual Christmas campaign will begin on Dec. 9 and ends on Dec. 21.

The welfare council is made up of five cooperating charitable organizations—City Relief Society, German Ladies Aid society, Salvation Army, Jewish Ladies Aid society, and the Ladies Auxiliary of the Catholic Order of Foresters—and the three Junior club, Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions. The council is the agency for collecting funds during the Christmas season each year and apportioning the money to the cooperating charitable organizations in proportion to the number of families they assist. About $3,000 is required each year to carry on the work of the organizations.

The council has a central clearing agency which works with the cooperating organizations to prevent families receiving help from more than one organization.

All officers of the organization were re-elected for the ensuing year. They are: E. N. Belanger, president; Roy Marston, vice president; Mrs. L. J. Marshall, secretary; Dr. M. H. Small, treasurer.

The organization went on record as being opposed to the methods of solicitation employed by the Volunteers of America, an organization which has solicited funds in Appleton on several occasions. The welfare council's opposition is directed against the Volunteers' plan of holding two and three campaigns here each year.

WOMAN STUDIES NEW PEOPLE IN SIBERIA

Leningrad.—(AP)—Madame R. P. Mitusova, a plucky collaborator of the Russian Academy of Sciences, after 12 months' residence with a new race of people discovered in the Arctic wastes of western Siberia, has collected much interesting information about these strange people, who are organized into five clans and number only about 500. The members of this race call themselves "Nashen," which means mere men or people. Their nearest neighbors, the Samoyeds, call them "Tyam-Ha-Sava," or forest people.

These strange people are quite unlike the Samoyeds in that they have very dark hair and complexions and their language is wholly different, lacking entirely the "R" sound which is very prominent in the speech of the Samoyeds. Until 1923 no civilized person had been known to have set foot in the territory of this new race, according to R. N. Gerasimov. He has just published a report of an expedition sent to Western Siberia by the Russian Academy of Sciences in the latter part of 1923, which found these aborigines on the River Pura.

RHODES SCHOLARS FIND FUND GRANTS TOO SMALL

Oxford.—(AP)—It is estimated that the average cost of an Oxford education is somewhat more than $1,500 a year. For Americans the cost is higher, as they are unable to spend the vacations cheaply at home. Present costs are nearly double those of previous years. When the Rhodes scholarships were instituted their stipend of $1,500 a year was most ample, and some scholars managed to save enough from it during their three years of residence to finance a fourth year either in Oxford or abroad. An increase of $250 has been added to the scholarships, but they are still inadequate.

Further increases have been proposed, but have been voted down by the Rhodes Trustees on the ground that they would make the position of a Rhodes scholar better than that of the holders of English college scholarships and thus lead to envy and dispirited men of wealth in the Dominion to provide Rhodes scholars from their districts with the additional money required by present conditions in England.

SAVES BABY FROM BENEATH SPEEDING ENGINE

Baby Cecil Keiser, aged 2, of Stamford, Neb., owes his life to the heroism of Fireman Jack Hardy. Cecil had tumbled out on the railway tracks near his home. The engineer was unable to stop. So Hardy climbed out of the cab and went ahead to the pilot. Leaning forward he grabbed the child from the locomotive's path and held him clear of the rails. Then, losing his balance, he had to toss Cecil flat between the rails to keep from falling with him. Cecil was unhurt, though the engine and two cars passed over him. Hardy is shown above beside his engine, with Cecil in the inset.

Cops Get Mad When Roy Gives Them Merry Ha! Ha!

Roy Warner is a stranger in Appleton. If he wasn't, he wouldn't have taken the route he did Monday afternoon in the condition he was in. But Roy is from Ohio, so he didn't know any better.

Roy had only been in the city a short while. Whether he thought he had finally discovered his ideal city, or whether it was purely out of a devilish feeling, he didn't say, but the fact remains that he celebrated his arrival here to such an extent that he very soon forgot where he was. It was at this stage of the celebration that he made his fatal mistake. Instead of remaining in his room or wherever the aforesaid celebration had taken place, Roy decided he would prefer going places and doing things. So he did.

But he did not even get to the first place, much less doing a single thing, all because he was not familiar with the city. The route he chose led him past the police station, which is as far as he got, for it is said his actions would have attracted anybody, not mentioning a police officer.

It is alleged Roy was rather unsteady as he approached police headquarters. Even then he might have weathered the trip, but the gold letters on the station window attracted his attention and he stopped before the window and peered in. What he saw inside must have amused him immensely for he burst into mirthful laughter.

A few minutes later he was arrested by Detective Sergt. M. M. McGinnis for being intoxicated and was lodged in the place he so admired for the remainder of the night.

GLASHEEN MUST SERVE SENTENCE IN STATE PRISON

Supreme Court Affirms Sentence Imposed on Buchanan School Treasurer

Michael Glasheen, 59-year-old farmer in the town of Buchanan, formerly treasurer of the Beaulieu hill school district, must serve the two year term in the state prison at Wausau imposed on him by the late Judge A. M. Spencer in municipal court. It was announced Tuesday by the state supreme court to which Glasheen appealed. The farmer had been at liberty on $1,500 bail since his sentence.

Glasheen was arrested last winter charged with embezzling $646.98 from the school district. He admitted in court that he has taken the money but did not intend to defraud the district. He said he used the money to pay off an indebtedness on his farm and that he thought a relatives had repaid the money to school officials. It was brought out that school officials had given him several opportunities to make restitution but he was unable to do so.

Glasheen was found guilty last February but a new trial was granted because of errors in the court record. In May he was found guilty again and he was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. A stay of sentence was granted pending an appeal to the Supreme court and Glasheen was instructed to make his appeal at once so his case could be placed on the August calendar of the high court.

The Supreme court said that while the default apparently occurred partially from Glasheen's failure to anticipate his duty as custodian of the public funds, partially because he expected to restore the moneys before called upon for them, and partially because he relied on a brother who disappointed him, it could not permit the "well established law on the subject of embezzlement" to be disturbed.

Build New Scenery for Cardinal Richelieu Play

All new scenery has been constructed for the presentation of "Cardinal Richelieu," Bulwer-Lytton's great play, by the Catholic Players guild in St. Joseph hall from Nov. 22 to 24. The scenery is being built by J. P. Bannister who is in charge of the production.

Among the features of the production will be the elaborate costumes which are being made for the characters. The costumes are historically correct in every detail and involve an immense amount of work in their construction. The players guild will present Edwin Booth's version of "Cardinal Richelieu" with J. M. Van Roven in the title role.

Electric light, requiring 8,000 watts will be used in the various scenes of the five acts. Lighting effects are under the direction of E. A. Killoren.

Tickets have been sent to every member of the Catholic organizations in the Catholic Home association and every effort is being made to insure a large sale.

PROPERTY IN COUNTY WORTH $115,530,000

Three Members of County Board Refuse to Sign Equalization Report

Outagamie county real estate and personal property is assessed at $115,530,821, according to the report of the committee on equalization which was submitted to the county board Monday. Action on the report was held over until Wednesday morning.

Appleton is assessed at $46,191,966, or 39.982 per cent of the total assessment. If the report is adopted by the board, the city will pay 39.982 per cent of the total tax levy, of the county or an increase of about 6 per cent over last year.

Kaukauna is assessed at $9,955,260, or 8.643 per cent of the total assessment. Assessment of New London is $1,720,199, and of Seymour is $2,952,356. The town of Grand Chute is assessed at $4,366,884.

The total assessments of all townships is $42,004,354; while the total of cities and villages is $73,496,467.

The report was signed by Supervisors George Kitchen of Black Creek, chairman, F. J. Schroeder of Center, John Knappton of Greenville, Robert Carpenter of Maine, Alfred Mueller of Seymour and Bert McCann of Freedom. Three supervisors, John Nissen of Kaukauna, L. P. Bushey of Appleton and P. H. Ryan of Appleton, refused to sign the report.

The assessed valuation and its percentage of the whole for each division in the county is:

Towns	Value	Percentage
Black Creek	$2,065,293	1.788 per cent.
Bohemia	$1,148,419	.944 per cent.

Best Way to Loosen Stubborn Cough

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma, or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Whiteman's Ambition In Life Is To Be Rancher

Not long ago, a magazine in the west asked a number of famous men what they would like to be if they couldn't be what they are. Paul Whiteman, who with his well-known orchestra will play here November 20th was one of the first to return his answer.

The reason for his promptness was that he is always running away from his music whenever he can manage it, to take a shot at being what he calls his "second-best ambition"—a rancher in real wild west clothes.

Mostly he goes, when he is near enough, to the "house that jazz built" a big ranch near Denver, Colorado, which Whiteman bought and stocked for his father, J. Wilberforce Whiteman, formerly head of the music department in the Denver public schools.

Oddly enough, the elder Mr. Whiteman's "second best ambition" was always just the same as his son's and he enjoys the days spent in the open almost as much as the younger man. "People often ask me," says Whiteman, "what I am going to do when I am through with jazz or jazz is through with me. I have lots of things I want to do, but most of all, I think, I want to have a ranch of my own, where I can really rough it—wear the kind of clothes I like best, and fish and hunt."

"When I was a child we had a summer home in the mountains that just filled the need of a restless youngster to have 'something doing' all the time."

FARMERS URGED TO CUT BRUSH ALONG HIGHWAYS

Farmers living on Appleton rural mail routes should get busy and cut down the weeds and brush that has grown along the roadside in many places, according to William H. Zuehlke, postmaster, who is making his semi-annual inspection of rural routes. Mr. Zuehlke inspected routes 1, 6 and 7 last week, and next week he will go over routes 1, 2, 3 and 5. The growth of brush and weeds near the road causes the snow to drift and pile up so that the road is almost impassable, and mail delivery is greatly handicapped.

Some farmers of the county have been discussing the erection of snow fences along the country roads to keep them open through the winter. It has been suggested that the county or towns provide the fences, at least for the main highways.

WENZEL IS 17TH DRUNKEN DRIVER ARRESTED HERE

Kaukauna Man Fined $50 and Loses Privilege to Drive Car for Six Months

Clarence Wenzel of S. Kaukauna, route 3, is the seventeenth person found guilty of driving his automobile while under the influence of liquor since the first of the year. He pleaded guilty to the above charge when arraigned in municipal court Monday, and was fined $50 and costs and refused the use of his car for six months. He was arrested at the corner of Tonka and North-sts at 8:45 Saturday evening by Police Officer A. P. Delgen and Sgt. M. M. McGinnis following a call received from Kimberly in which the police department was asked to watch for Wenzel.

SEVEN CASES LISTED ON PROBATE COURT CALENDAR

Seven cases are on the calendar for the special term of Outagamie county probate court which opened Tuesday morning. They are:

Hearing in proof of will in estates of Ardinia Hartjes and Wilhelmina Verwey.

Hearing claims in estates of Henrietta Schultz, Herman G. Saecker and Apollonia J. Zonne.

Hearing petition for adjustment of trustees' accounts in estate of J. S. Van Nortwick.

DRINKS DRINKS SO MUCH HE ASKS TO BE ARRESTED

John L. Sullivan, who proved to be no relation of the former prominent prize fighter, visited the police department Sunday morning. His visit was voluntary, too, even though he was arrested on a drunk and disorderly charge by Officer Earl Thomas shortly after 12 o'clock. And although he gave his name as John L. Sullivan, it was learned that he is Nelson Drinks of Greenville.

His arrest came about at his own request. He approached Officer Thomas a few minutes after midnight Saturday, informed the latter that he (Drinks) was drunk and asked to be placed under arrest. The officer accommodated Drinks, for it was quite apparent to the former that Drinks had drunk too much for his own well being.

Although Drinks got a night's lodging at the police department, it was not free by any means. He was fined $5 and costs in municipal court Monday.

Drinks informed Judge Theodore Berg he would refrain from all drinks except the soft kind in the future.

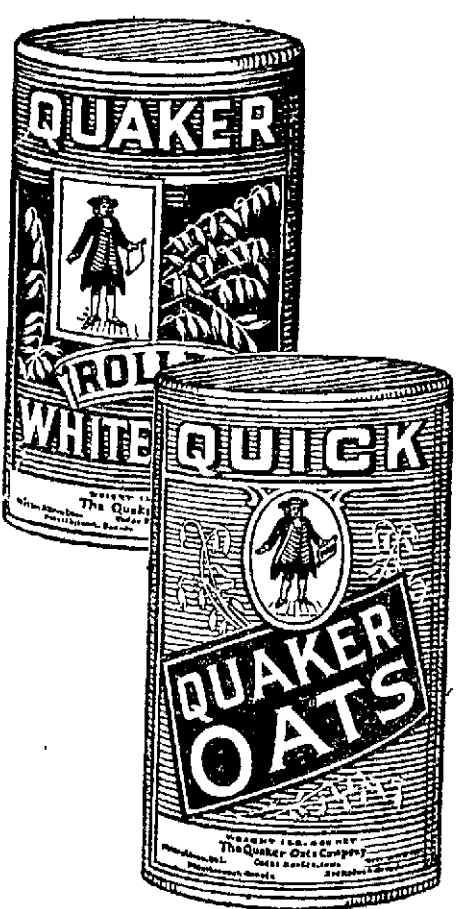

Two persons guilty in drunkenness were taken to the workhouse Monday for punishment of fines each. They were Calvin Whiseler and another person who were arrested Sunday by Chief of Police Berg.

Look for the picture of the Quaker on every package of oats you get. That's the only way to get the "Quaker flavor"—the old Scotch flavor—that you want

WHAT you want in oats is flavor. Everything else takes second place. Oats originally a Scotch dish must have true Scotch flavor to be at its best—real "Quaker" flavor.

Nobody has yet succeeded in imitating Quaker flavor. That enticing and toasty Scotch tang of the Quaker brand.

People who ordinarily don't take to oats, find delight in that unique flavor. Once you taste it, you are spoiled for ordinary oats. So when asked to "try" a substitute, say "NO."

That flavor is not the result of guesswork but of certain Quaker milling processes applied to the finest, plumpiest oats that grow. Some 50 years were spent in perfecting it.

Quick Quaker cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. It makes the finest, the most savory and quickest of hot breakfasts.

Due to Quaker milling methods, it supplies, too, the "roughage" you need to make laxatives seldom necessary.

ONLY ONE DRIVE FOR SOCIETIES IN WELFARE COUNCIL

Charitable Organizations Elect
Officers and Prepare for
Campaign

Any organization included in Appleton Welfare Council which engages in a separate campaign for funds in Appleton will be barred hereafter from participation in the proceeds of campaigns conducted by the welfare council, it was decided at a meeting of the organization in the chamber of commerce Monday night. The welfare council's annual Christmas campaign will begin on Dec. 9 and ends on Dec. 24.

The welfare council is made up of five cooperating charitable organizations—City Relief Society, German Ladies Aid society, Salvation Army, Jewish Ladies Aid society and the Ladies Auxiliary of the Catholic Order of Foresters—and the three luncheon clubs, Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions. The council is the agency for collecting funds during the Christmas season each year and apportioning the money to the cooperating charitable organizations in proportion to the number of families they assist. About $5,000 is required each year to carry on the work of the organizations.

The council has a central clearing agency which works with the cooperating organizations to prevent families receiving help from more than one organization.

All officers of the organization were elected for the ensuing year. They are F. N. Belanger, president, Roy Marston, vice president, Miss L. J. Marshall, secretary, Dr. M. H. Small, treasurer.

The organization went on record as being opposed to the methods of solicitation employed by the Volunteers of America, an organization which has solicited funds in Appleton on several occasions. The welfare council's opposition is directed against the Volunteers' plan of holding two and three campaigns here each year.

WOMAN STUDIES NEW PEOPLE IN SIBERIA

Leningrad.—(AP)—Madame R. P. Mitrova, a plucky collaborator of the Russian Academy of Sciences, after 12 months' residence with a new race of people discovered in the Arctic wilds of western Siberia, has collected much interesting information about these strange people, who are organized into clans and number only about 500. The members of this race call themselves "Xochen" which means merry men or people. Their nearest neighbors, the Samoyeds, call them "Pyani-Hi-Soy" or forest people.

These strange people are quite unlike the Samoyeds in that they have very dark hair and complexions and their language is wholly different, lacking entirely the "T" sound which is very prominent in the speech of the Samoyeds. Until 1923 no civilized person had been known to have set foot in the territory of this new race, according to B. N. Gorodkov. He has just published a report of an expedition sent to Western Siberia by the Russian Academy of Sciences in the latter part of 1923, which found these aborigines on the River Pura.

RHODES SCHOLARS FIND FUND GRANTS TOO SMALL

Oxford.—(AP)—It is estimated that the average cost of an Oxford education is somewhat more than $1,500 a year. For Americans the cost is higher, as they are unable to spend the vacations cheaply at home. Present costs are nearly double those of pre-war years. When the Rhodes scholarships were instituted their stipend of $1,500 a year was most ample, and some scholars managed to save enough from it during their three years of residence to finance a fourth year either in Oxford or abroad. An increase of $250 has been added to the scholarships, but they are still inadequate.

Further increases have been proposed, but have been voted down by the Rhodes Trustees on the ground that they would make the position of a Rhodes scholar better than that of the holders of English college scholarships and thus lead to envy and dispirited men of wealth in the Dominion to provide Rhodes scholars from their districts with the additional money required by present conditions in England.

SAVES BABY FROM BENEATH SPEEDING ENGINE

Baby Cecil Keiser, aged 2, of Stamford, Neb., owes his life to the heroism of Fireman Jack Hardy. Cecil had toddled out on the railway tracks near his home. The engineer was unable to stop. So Hardy climbed out of the cab and went ahead to the pilot. Leaning forward he grabbed the child from the locomotive's path and held him clear of the rails. Then, losing his balance, he had to toss Cecil flat between the rails to keep from falling with him. Cecil was unhurt, though the engine and two cars passed over him. Hardy is shown above beside his engine, with Cecil in the inset.

Cops Get Mad When Roy Gives Them Merry Ha! Ha!

Roy Warner is a stranger in Appleton. If he weren't, he wouldn't have taken the route he did Monday afternoon in the condition he was in. But Roy is from Ohio so he didn't know any better.

Roy had only been in the city a short while. Whether he thought he had finally discovered his ideal city or whether it was purely out of a devilish feeling he didn't say, but the fact remains that he celebrated his arrival here to such an extent that he very soon forgot where he was.

It was at this stage of the celebration that he made his fatal mistake. The members of this race call themselves "Xochen" which means merry men or people. Their nearest neighbors, the Samoyeds, call them "Pyani-Hi-Soy" or forest people.

These strange people are quite unlike the Samoyeds in that they have very dark hair and complexions and their language is wholly different, lacking entirely the "T" sound which is very prominent in the speech of the Samoyeds. GLASHEEN MUST SERVE SENTENCE IN STATE PRISON

Supreme Court Affirms Sentence Imposed on Buchanan School Treasurer

Michael Glasheen, 59-year-old farmer in the town of Buchanan, formerly treasurer of the Beaulieu hill school district, must serve the two year term in the state prison at Waukegan imposed on him by the late Judge A. M. Spencer in municipal court, it was announced Tuesday by the state supreme court to which Glasheen appealed. The farmer had been at liberty on $1,500 bail since his sentence.

Glasheen was arrested last winter charged with embezzling $646.98 from the school district. He admitted in court that he has taken the money, but did not intend to defraud the district. He said he used the money to pay off an indebtedness on his farm and that he thought a relatives had repaid the money to school officials. It was brought out that school officials had given him several opportunities to make restitution but he was unable to do so.

Glasheen was found guilty last February but a new trial was granted because of errors in the court record. In May he was found guilty again and he was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. A stay of sentence was granted pending an appeal to the supreme court and Glasheen was instructed to make his appeal at once so his case could be placed on the August calendar of the high court.

The supreme court said that while the default apparently occurred partially from Glasheen's failure to appreciate his duty as custodian of the public funds, partially because he expected to restore the money he fore called upon for them, and partially because he relied on a brother who disappointed him, it could not permit the "well established law on the subject of embezzlement" to be disturbed.

BUILD NEW SCENERY FOR CARDINAL RICHELIEU PLAY

All new scenery has been constructed for the presentation of "Cardinal Richelieu," Bulwer-Lytton's great play, by the Catholic Players guild in St. Joseph hall from Nov. 22 to 24. The scenery is being built by J. E. Baunister, who is in charge of the production. Among the features of the production will be the elaborate costumes which are being made for the characters. The costumes are historically correct in every detail and involve an immense amount of work in their construction. The players guild will present Edwin Booth's version of "Cardinal Richelieu" with J. M. Van Roon in the title role.

Electric light, requiring 8,000 watts will be used in the various scenes of the five acts. Lighting effects are under the direction of E. A. Killoran.

Tickets have been sent to every member of the Catholic organizations in the Catholic Home association and every effort is being made to insure a large sale.

"When I was a child we had a summer home in the mountains that just filled the need of a restless youngster to have something doing" all the time.

"I was surprised to hear, not long ago, that child health authorities have discovered that city children, surrounded by clinics and neighborhood nurses, with pasteurized milk to drink and sterilized air to breathe are healthier than country children. I always supposed it was just the other way around. But anyway, no city child gets half the joy out of life that the country boy does."

FARMERS URGED TO CUT BRUSH ALONG HIGHWAYS

Farmers living on Appleton rural mail routes should get busy and cut down the weeds and brush that has grown along the roadside in many places, according to William H. Zuehlke, postmaster, who is making his semi-annual inspection of rural routes. Mr. Zuehlke inspected routes 1, 6 and 7 last week, and next week he will go over routes 1, 2, 3 and 5. The growth of brush and weeds near the road causes the snow to drift and pile up so that the road is almost impassable, and mail delivery is greatly handicapped.

Some farmers of the county have been discussing the erection of snow fences along the country roads to keep them open through the winter. It has been suggested that the county or towns provide the fences, at least for the main highways.

DRINKS DRINKS SO MUCH HE ASKS TO BE ARRESTED

John G. Sullivan, who proved to be no relation of the former prominent prize fighter, visited the police department Sunday morning. His visit was voluntary, too, even though he was arrested on a drunk and disorderly charge by Officer Earl Thomas after 12 o'clock. And although he gave his name as John G. Sullivan, it was learned that he is Nelson Drinks of Greenville.

His arrest came about at his own request. He approached Officer Thomas a few minutes after midnight Saturday, informed the latter that he (Drinks) was drunk and asked to be placed under arrest. The officer accommodated Drinks, for it was quite apparent to the former that Drinks had drunk too much for his own well being.

Although Drinks got a night's lodging at the police department, it was not free by any means. He was fined $5 and costs in municipal court Monday.

Drinks informed Judge Theodore Berg he would refrain from all drinks except the soft kind in the future.

DRUNKS CAN'T PAY FINE SO GO TO WORKHOUSE

Two persons who were found quite in municipal court Monday of being drunk were sentenced to 10 days in the workhouse in default of payment of fines of $5 and costs each. They were John Konechka and Calvin Wheelock of Kaukauna.

They were arrested at Kaukauna Sunday by Chief of Police R. H. Mc-

Look Out!

Look for the picture of the Quaker on every package of oats you get. That's the only way to get the "Quaker flavor"—the old Scotch flavor—that you want

WHAT you want in oats is flavor. Everything else takes second place. Oats originally a Scotch dish must have true Scotch flavor to be at its best—real "Quaker" flavor.

Nobody has yet succeeded in imitating Quaker flavor. That enticing and toasty Scotch tang of the Quaker brand.

People who ordinarily don't take to oats, find delight in that unique flavor. Once you taste it, you are spoiled for ordinary oats. So when asked to "try" a substitute, say "NO."

That flavor is not the result of guesswork but of certain Quaker milling processes applied to the finest, plumpest oats that grow. Some 50 years were spent in perfecting it.

Quick Quaker cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. It makes the finest, the most savory and quickest of hot breakfasts.

Due to Quaker milling methods, it supplies, too, the "roughage" you need to make laxatives seldom necessary.

GERMANY RATIFIES TREATY

There has never been serious doubt that Germany would ratify the treaty signed by her representatives and those of the allies in Locarno. Since the public indorsement of the treaties by President von Hindenburg last week, any apprehension that the agreements would be rejected is practically removed. The nationalists who are strongly opposed to the treaties are left in an embarrassing situation, since they are chiefly responsible for von Hindenburg's election. Industrial Germany is very strong for this great peace move. It is only the political junkers who cannot be reconciled to the permanent concessions Germany is required to make. They want the gate left open to war and conquests. They have no use for any step which tends to maintain the status quo or which affords genuine security to Europe.

The final decision as to ratification will be the greatest test of the peaceful purposes, the sobriety and intelligence of Germany that has been made since the fatal mistake of 1914. Great Britain fully expects ratification, and we think this has been the general feeling of Europe, although naturally France, because of her peculiar position, may have been a little fearful. Von Hindenburg's approval of the treaty removes any doubt which may have existed as to ratification, regardless of what the nationalists may do.

The fascists of von Ludendorff endeavored to hold a mass meeting in Berlin Sunday in conjunction with the nationalists as a protest against the Locarno treaties. It was a flat failure. Von Hindenburg has been an agreeable surprise to those who viewed his election with misgivings. When he stated that he would uphold the republic, notwithstanding his monarchistic preferences, he evidently meant what he said; also, when he declared that he would place his country above party and self.

His indorsement of the Locarno treaties has been at the cost of a possible break with the nationalist party, and has actually resulted in a disruption of his cabinet. Thus far he has resisted junkerism with a firm hand, and has carried out faithfully those promises he made to the German people which resulted in many republicans voting with the nationalists for his election.

CORRUPTION IN PROHIBITION

Among all the cities of America, Washington, where laws are made, became the conspicuous leader in disrespect for law and the constitution.

Cabinet officers, judges, senators, representatives in congress and leaders of the official life of Washington in every line, publicly, notoriously and as a matter of course, broke the law of the country. Is it any wonder that when these men set the example of disrespect for the law the criminal classes should follow?

This indictment of the national capital was made by Governor Pinelot of Pennsylvania, and of course he referred to the violations of and disrespect for the prohibition law. We ought to add that no exception has been taken by officials at Washington to the charges made by the Pennsylvania executive, for the evidently good reason that they know them to be true. It may be that conditions are not quite so bad as they were in the days of Daugherty, but there is no reason to believe that Washington is either repentant or reformed in its taste for illicit booze. The cellars of the national capital, and in this we include the federal officeholders, are as well stocked with liquor and wines as the cellars of any other American city.

Chicago is just now grappling with a prohibition enforcement scandal in which an $800,000-a-month beer syndicate has involved the police, an assistant United States district attorney, and, to quote the press reports, "high government agents." No sooner is one scandal of large proportions uncovered and some sort of attempt made to clean it up, than another comes to light. We are constantly dealing with conspiracies and criminal acts on a large scale growing out of corrupt and dishonest enforcement of prohibition. The criminal side of enforcement is almost as great a problem as the suppression of liquor. It does not seem to be possible to build up an enforcing machinery that is incorruptible or that can be relied upon for any length of time. Whether this is an inherent weakness of extreme prohibition that cannot be cured is for the future to determine, but up to the present time the situation is anything but encouraging.

SUCCESSFUL FAILURES

The world has usually been slow to appreciate the worth of its geniuses and outstanding leaders. New ideas have always had to fight for their lives. History is full of the stories of successful failures.

Cervantes, the greatest of all Spanish novelists, died in poverty, neglected and ignored. His grave is unmarked and the place of his birth is unknown. Although a gallant soldier of the king his loyalty went unrewarded except for the honorable scars he carried to his grave. It is doubtful whether a hundred people in Spain in 1616 believed that a genius had died, yet his book, Don Quixote, has gone through more than 300 editions and has been translated into more languages than any other piece of literature in the world except the Bible and Pilgrim's Progress.

Lincoln's Gettysburg address, which now adorns the walls of offices, universities, libraries and homes, did not receive editorial mention in a single newspaper in the nation at the time of its delivery, except in terms of ridicule and derision. The files of the papers during the days of the Civil war show Mr. Lincoln to have been a man in high disfavor with enemies and supporters alike.

John Fitch, the man who first operated a steamboat, exhibiting his invention before the members of the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia in 1787, was considered a crank and a visionary. George Washington thought so little of the steamboat exhibition that he accepted a dinner invitation for the same hour and did not attend, although the convention adjourned for the purpose of being present.

Charles Goodyear failed for eleven years in his search for some means of vulcanizing rubber and finally died in poverty and was carried to his grave in obscurity. Now the world rides on air as a result of his labors.

Jesus of Nazareth died upon a cross between two thieves, the most ignominious death that could be inflicted in His day. He left less than one hundred and fifty loyal followers, no books, no writings and no organization. Yet the world dates all its legal documents in reference to the day of His birth and His ideals are more influential in determining the life and destiny of more people in the world than any other man who ever lived.

No man is a failure because the crowd has rejected him. "Truth, crushed to earth, will rise again, and a great work, well done, will never die." Our town, too, is full of successful failures. Men and women who have succeeded in building great characters and no fortunes.

KNOCKING

We all have our faults and our drawbacks, no doubt. The world was created that way. The man who is perfect has yet to come out. There is no such person, they say.

I mention the fact as a friendly-like tip, for it's one that we likely all need. Watch out for your self, lest you're due for a rip up the back, if you're planning the deed.

It's always too easy to talk about folk, and find lots of faults with their being. And though it is oftentimes done in a joke, you'll always find letters agreeing.

Most knocking that's done is a senseless affair, and it just makes the knocker look small. Whenever you have such opinions to air, it is best you don't air them at all.

To criticize people is all to the bad, so the next time expressions are loosed, forget all the knock that you ever have had. Speak only in terms of a loos.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

NEITHER SYMPTOMS NOR SYNONYMS ARE THE SAME

Nervous old women who wisely warned that this is still another talk about the same old subject, to wit, the delusion that one can get rid from exposure to cold or wet. I give fair warning, because several old women of indiscriminate sex appear to get all wrought up whenever I say anything on this subject; the effect is akin to taking an old snail's toddy away from him for his own welfare. He resents the kindness for all he is worth.

Skip this talk today if you are bored by the truth about the nature and cause of most of the illness doctors have to deal with. Write a protest to the editor if you resent being reminded of your criminal negligence or your boorish selfishness about spraying your neighbors with your nose and throat excretions when you have what you treacherously and cowardly call a "cold." Have no anxiety about being lonely in your reactionary attitude—the nostrum exploiting gentry and the bemuddled health officers of the country are with you, as are a goodly number of the medical practitioners who find the cold delusion a great labor saver, an excellent cloak for delinquencies in diagnosis.

Diseases Not to be Sneezed

These are the main diseases recognized in this group of respiratory infections, common respiratory infections, or, as they are known in the office of the Press-Gazette, "cold in the head": Simple sore throat.

Tonsillitis
Acute laryngitis (hoarseness)
Acute bronchitis
Pneumonia
Pleurisy
Influenza
Tuberculosis
Diphtheria
Cerebrospinal meningitis
Infantile paralysis
Acute sinusitis

Measles
Scarlet fever
Whooping cough
Chicken pox
Smallpox
Mumps
Pneumonic plague
Encephalitis lethargica

The Golden Rule in Prevention

That measure is nothing more nor less than an intelligent application of the golden rule to the practice of spraying one another. To be sure, it is not always possible to avoid sneezing, a friend in the spray of one's intimate conversation, but there is plenty of room for the universal employment of intelligence, consideration and courtesy, and these factors, if conscientiously used, will insure a great improvement in public health.

The ordinary mode of infection is the same in all of these diseases. They are all respiratory infections that is, the germ, contagium or virus of the disease is conveyed in the nose or throat excretions of the individual ill with or about the disease to the next victim. In the case of the cold, the virus is usually in minute particles in the spray of one's intimate conversation, but there is plenty of room for the universal employment of intelligence, consideration and courtesy, and these factors, if conscientiously used, will insure a great improvement in public health.

Even Dr. Osler, although he described pneumonia as a specific infectious disease, always attributed his own repeated attacks of bronchitis to drafts in cold lecture rooms or to chills he experienced on cold rides, but it was the pneumococcus that got him in the end.

When a friend, an associate or any person approaching within five feet purports to have a "slight cold" there is no foretelling what one may not catch from the contact.

As long as people continue to apply the misleading or disarming term "cold" to such ailments we can scarcely hope to make any further progress in the control or prevention of the respiratory infections. For any acquiescence on the part of health authorities and physicians in the quaint superstition which Dr. Osler and most other doctors of his day held and which so many of the unenlightened laity of our day still cherish, defeats the greatest preventive measure we have against these common respiratory infections.

THAT COFFEE STRAINER

ROLLO—Seems to me you're taking unseemly privileges these days with my "cookie duster." (A friend in the office of the Press-Gazette coined the phrase for me a few summers ago.) I expect to remove it after the first game of the basketball season, even if I get a bad cold from the sudden "undue exposure." Any more of your slams will result in my challenging you and the office cat to a whisker-growing contest.

---Dot-Dash-Dave.

There goes another vow broken. Evidently discouraged in football, Doc Gust Dave is seeking consolation from a winning basketball team. Possibly he'll organize a caging team of whiskered players. By the way, we wonder if he is the founder of the House of David.

The whisker race challenge probably will have to go by unaccepted. The office cat is the one person in this sanctum that couldn't raise a whisker if she tried. The rest of the force might accept the challenge with certain reservations, such as raising a combed beard. Mike, for instance, would undertake to furnish the moustache, like the chin tuft and Spike the mutton chops.

HINT FOR NEW LODGE

"Bishop Denny speaking to the North Carolina Methodist conference advises every man to wear a moustache as the last distinctive badge of masculinity that women have left him. They cut their hair, wear men's clothes and adopt men's habits, but they can't wear a moustache. To encourage the custom for men the bishop wears one himself."

The above news item comes a little late for some Lawrence college students. They probably anticipated the bishop's advice and decided to foster the good movement.

"Every time somebody gets something for nothing, somebody else gets nothing for something," moralized the preacher. Mike sold a car. He said the present owner got it for practically nothing. The latter has a car, and Mike has $225, which is the same as nothing—to a man like Mike.

WARTIME SHIPS WERE THORN IN SIDE OF COUNTRY

Ford Helps U. S. Solve Puzzle by Buying Boats to Scrap—Some Will Be Kept

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Washington, D. C.—The shipping board, that monster organization which arose in order to put American shipping on the seven seas and under the American flag, has had its troubles. It arose when the late disturbance in Europe created a great demand for American wares and it met the demand as best it could.

It hastily built ships; built them on a scale that was unprecedented. But, when the war ended and peace had set in, the shipping board began having troubles.

It found, much to its annoyance, that there was no use for a large quantity of its ships. It found, moreover, that there was a very limited line of disposal left open for them. It also found that members of congress and editorial writers were prone to ask rather pointed questions in regard to these ships and to make remarks about elephants that were white.

SHIPS WERE THORN

Now the shipping board has all manner of ships, but the steel ones were the big item. There were slightly more than 1,200 of these. They lay in shipyards and harbors around the United States and presented the problem that caused all the board's troubles. Of these there were 800 that were good enough to sail any man's set and hold their own, under favorable trade conditions, and 400 that were well worth less as far as their worth to any steamship company was concerned. The latter composed the nigger in the woodpile.

They lay at Jones Point on the Hudson, at Hog Island and at Norfolk, while a few of them resided in the Gulf ports. The majority of the useless ones were in the Hudson river and caused many inquiries to be made to the shipping board as to what they were doing there. Any one descending on Manhattan from Albany saw them more than likely made a caustic remark about gross inefficiency and the like.

These vessels, although they had given fairly good service during the war, were found to be sadly wanting for the regular commerce of peace time. Shipping had returned to the normal standard so that any bulk that was seaworthy would no longer do. Vessels had to be in good condition and it was necessary that they be capable of making a certain speed.

FORD TOOK SOME

Ford took 200 away from the city of lost ships. He will tow them up the Hudson river to the Erie canal and thence up the lakes to Detroit. He has dismantling machinery equipment necessary to scrap them. He also bought seven tugs at $42,500 apiece. These had lain idle for years. The other 200 have not as yet been sold. The board believes the Detroit manufacturer will take them also.

Then there were 400 ships that the government wished to keep. This was a precaution learned from an embarrassing experience. They will be part of the industrial mobilization of the United States.

The predicament in which the government found itself when the war struck was unique in that it was the only nation ever to be caught in such a manner. It was completely demobilized with one exception. Only its navy was at all adequate to meet the situation. Its army was a pitiful little child of small strength. Its industrial and commercial facilities were unorganized.

However, with the United States now a mighty figure in the international picture, it is necessary to prepare for future emergencies. There will be 400 ships ready and waiting if another war flames out across the world. These 400 will be immaculately cared for and may be pressed into service on notice.

The object of the Post-Crescent Information Bureau at Washington is to tell you, without charge, whatever you may want to know. The bureau endeavors to answer questions in such a way that the information is of the greatest practical value. It replies to your inquiry by personal letter, treating all correspondence as confidential. You are urged to consider the possibilities of this service in relation to your own problems—personal, household, or business. Ask your friends who have called on the Bureau for service about its value. They are its best advertisers. Send in your question and enclose two cents in stamps to cover the return postage. Address The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. Where did Andrew Jackson get the Indian boy that he took to rear? A. E. J.

A. The Bureau of American Ethnology says that it has no information regarding the tradition in Tennessee that Andrew Jackson took an Indian boy to rear. Biographies of President Jackson mention an adopted son, but do not state that he was an Indian.

Q. What does the term "Americanization" mean? M. M.

A. Americanization is the acquiring by foreigners of an American point of view, by which they may appreciate and enjoy the privileges of life in America.

Q. What was the average speed made last year by Peter de Paola at the Baltimore-Washington Speedway? M. B. L.

A. The race was run in July 11 and Paola's average speed was 123.33 miles per hour. Toward the end of the race when McDonough was pressing him hard for passing, his speed averaged better than 181 miles per hour for a distance of ten miles. The highest speed attained was approximately 135 or 136 miles per hour.

Q. Is honey less fattening than sugar? J. R. R.

A. Dr. Harvey Wiley says that honey and sugar in equivalent amounts have the same fattening properties. As honey contains about 20 per cent of water, or a little more, it would require 20 per cent more honey to have the same fattening properties as an equivalent amount of sugar. Honey is more wholesome than sugar because it has vitamins and mineral substance gathered by the bee, while refined sugar has neither minerals nor vitamins. It is more wholesome to eat honey than it is to eat an equivalent amount of sugar, but both are fattening.

Q. In what form is platinum found? W. A. B.

A. The Geographical Survey says that most platinum is found native in placer deposits and in black sand. Some is found in ores in some of the mines in the yellow pine districts of Nevada, also in the Rambler mine in Wyoming. As much as more than 60 per cent of the platinum content is taken from the ore.

Q. Why are some roses called tea roses? H. B. G.

A. They are so-called because their odor is like the aroma of tea.

Q. What part of a measuring cup is an ounce of water? P. P.

A. It is one-eighth of a cup or two tablespoons.

Q. What per cent of the national income is produced by people who are paid salaries? N. B.

A. Total salaries and wages in the United States furnished 58 per cent of the national income. In 1921 the total income amounted to $34,769,362,000.

Q. When was the Venus de Milo found? W. O. H.

A. It was recovered in 1820.

Q. What does "Thanatopsis" mean? S. G. A.

A. This Greek word means "view of death."

Q. Does Canada produce much tobacco? A. T.

A. Tobacco production in Canada during the past year amounted to 1,710,740 pounds. The farm value of the production was $4,353,898. The area under crop in 1924 was 21,317 acres, situated in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec.

Q. Has a bridge ever actually collapsed when a body of soldiers was crossing it? A. H.

A. In 1860 a suspension bridge at Angers, France gave way when 478 soldiers were marching over it and 226 were killed.

Q. How many passenger and freight cars are there in this country? H. P. S.

A. The latest figures available are passenger cars, 54,719; box cars, 1,048,231; coal cars, 949,751.

Q. Who was Mrs. Parington? C. M. K.

A. She was an anecdotal character of Sidmouth, England, who attempted to stem the incoming tide of the Atlantic Ocean with a mop during a great storm in 1824, and referred to by Sidney Smith in a speech delivered at Taunton, England in 1831, to point out the futility of the opposition of the House of Lords to the reform movement. Mrs. Parington is also the name of a character noted for her laughable misuse of words in many sketches by E. T. Silliker, an American humorist. He published the first of Mrs. Parington's sayings in the Boston Post in 1847.

Kaukauna—Large crowds attended every session and demonstration conducted by A. S. Moreau. Red cross life saving expert, who is in Kaukauna through the influence of the local Red cross, to demonstrate life saving and first aid.

Mr. Moreau addressed the high school students for about an hour Monday afternoon. He also demonstrated the Schaeffer method of resuscitation on one of the high school students, showing in detail just what to do.

Mr. Moreau's talk drew a group of high school boys to the Municipal swimming pool where he gave demonstrations of the various methods used. A number of the boys were told they had a chance to win the Red Cross Life Saving badge and they are working hard to obtain it. Tuesday's program includes a class in the afternoon for girls, and classes in the morning and in the afternoon to demonstrate methods of resuscitating those by gas or suffering from electrical shock. Mr. Moreau will conclude his stay in the city Tuesday night with a big public demonstration at which time several local boys will take the tests to determine whether they are to wear Red Cross Life Saving badges.

Social Items

Kaukauna—A large crowd attended the meeting of the Free and Accepted Masons evening in the Masonic hall. Degree work was put on.

A record attendance featured the semi-monthly meeting of Catholic order of Foresters Monday evening in the Northside Forester hall. "Boogah" was served after the meeting.

The married ladies will hold their regular semi monthly card party Thursday evening in the church basement of the Holy Cross church.

The Catholic Knights of Wisconsin will hold a meeting Tuesday evening in south side Forester hall. Important business will be discussed.

BRIDGE PAVEMENT WILL BE FINISHED TODAY

Kaukauna—The company laying the asphaltic covering on the concrete of the new Wisconsin-ave bridge will finish its work Tuesday. The crews were again lowering and raising the bridge, using many sacks of cement in order to find the correct balance between the bridge and the counterweights. After the balance has been found, cement blocks will substitute for the sacks of cement.

Practically all the construction work on the bridge will be finished within three weeks and then crews will start filling in the approaches to the bridge and between the two sections of the bridge.

Painters are at work on the draw section, giving it its first coat of paint, which is a dark gray. This will be covered with a light gray paint to conform with the lower section of the bridge.

Electricians have begun the work of stringing wires over the bridge. The wires are laid on cross beams for which a place is provided. The wires cross over the top of the bridge instead of under as they do on the old bridge.

KAUKAUNA WILL HAVE ANOTHER POULTRY FAIR

Kaukauna—Owing to the success of the poultry fair which was held in connection with the pig fair Saturday, directors of the Tri-county Fair association and the business men of the city have decided to hold another poultry fair the second Saturday in November.

Directors had expected the poultry to be bought by the local meat dealers and the townspeople, but a group of poultry buyers from the vicinity of Milwaukee were at the fair and bought all the birds they could get. It was at the request of these buyers that the directors decided on holding another similar.

The crowd was the largest ever at a fair here at this time of the year.

DISTURBANCE IN A LOCAL THEATRE

The patrons of a local show house were very much disturbed and annoyed by the continuous coughing of a person in the audience. Don't be a nuisance because you have a cough or cold. A few doses of POLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND taken promptly will bring speedy relief from coughs, colds and hoarseness. Write: "We have used POLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND for colds and had coughs with splendid results." Sold Everywhere.

ATTENTION MOOSE
Arrange to attend meeting Tuesday evening, Nov. 17th. A very important matter to come before the lodge.

WANT CAGE GAME WITH APPLETON

Coach Smith Offers to Meet
Appleton High School on Armory Floor

Kaukauna—Interclass basketball tournaments will take place Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, according to Coach William Smith who is in charge of the work. The coach will have an opportunity to look over the men and will pick a squad of 25 from the most likely looking candidates. This group of 25 will later be cut to 12 or 15.

The basketball schedule for the year is practically complete but Coach Smith has been in touch with the officials of Appleton high school and tried to get two games with them. Coach has offered to play both games on the floor of Armory G in Appleton. Coach Smith has not received an answer as yet.

Following is the schedule:
Dec. 18—West Green Bay at Kaukauna.
Jan. 8—Waupaca at Kaukauna.
Jan. 15—Two Rivers at Kaukauna.
Jan. 22—Cubaville at Kaukauna.
Jan. 29—Open.
Feb. 5—Kaukauna at Two Rivers.
Feb. 12—Kaukauna at Waupaca.
Feb. 19—Kaukauna at Clintonville.
Mar. 5—Kaukauna at Oshkosh.
Mar. 12—Tournament at Appleton.

BURGLARS BREAK INTO WILLIAM HOMAN COTTAGE

Kaukauna—Thieves broke into the cottage owned by William Homan of this city at Utowana beach at Lake Winnebago some time. The robbery was discovered Monday by farmers who live in that vicinity and they notified Mr. Homan.

The robbers broke a front window to gain entrance to the cottage and they ransacked the whole building carrying off small articles.

PICK EIGHT STUDENTS FOR DEBATING TEAM

Kaukauna—Eight high school teachers, acting as judges, picked the following eight students as members of the Kaukauna high school debate team: Misses Dorothy and Lucille Haas, Robert Radsch, Leo Schmalz, Francis Grogan, Emmet Rohan, William Ashe and Roland Rader. The try outs were held after school Monday and about 25 students attempted to make the team. Work with the team will start at once according to Olin G. Drer, principal of the high school and the head of the coaching staff. Material has arrived and the members of the team will devote part of each day on the work. Last year Kaukauna was second in the state final contests and this year the debaters are determined to win first place. It is possible that several trial debates will be held with nearby schools before the league debates begin.

IRON CHIP CAUSES INJURY TO MAN'S EYE

Kaukauna—While working on a chipping machine at the Meloch factory Malcolm Jacobson was injured when a small piece of steel flew into his right eye. The accident occurred last Thursday but Jacobson did not notice it immediately. On Friday, however, he could not see owing to the swelling in the eye.

MILE OF PAVING LAID THIS YEAR IN WAUPACA CO

Highway Department Expended $295,035 During Season, Says Huffcut

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca—Next to the schools the county highway department of Waupaca costs the taxpayers the most money. John Huffcut's annual report to the county board as highway commissioner, gives the amount spent by the county for the past year for construction and maintenance exclusive of the cities as $295,035.38. One mile of concrete was laid in the city of Clintonville; otherwise the figures are for the county at large, exclusive of the cities. A detailed summary includes: Construction of 1 mile of concrete, surface 30 miles $78,104.44; concrete culverts, (13) $2551.01; corrugated culverts, (53) $2437.40; guard rail, (7355 feet) $2,122.92; county aid culverts and bridges, $15,026.60; county trunk patrol maintenance of highway equipment, $23,535.66; state trunk maintenance, $50,545.50; moving fund, $4,450.89.

The state allowed $52,320 for state highway maintenance, and in this fund there is a balance of $2,905.31. A fund to be used in an emergency was untouched. Of the $58,200.25 used for county maintenance, the state allotted $25,330.28. During the year four gravel pits were purchased at a cost of $2,000.

An inventory of machinery and small tools owned by the county highway department amounted to $66,250. The largest single investment in any piece of equipment is in the Russell portable crushing and screening plant valued at $6,000. In the list are 100 dump boxes, 56 patrol grades, 50 wheel scrapers, 30 plows, 17 camp wagons, 9 camps fitted with springs and mattresses, 8 cook outfits, 32 trucks, and 2 big 45-65 horse power tractors.

The amount of money spent in the different towns in the county during the last year for highway work is: Dayton $4,054.57; Mukwa $2,403.74; Larrabee $1,925.43; Fremont $2,318.06; Matteson $2,871.30; Royauwega township $7,154.53; Harrison, 2 years, $9,855.98; Scandinavia $2,104.97; Scandinavia township $6,028.76; Lebanon $214.74; Clintonville $30,258.71; Royauwega village $1,047.93; Mukwa $3,879.29; Iowa township $5,082.87; Little Wolf $1,475.28; Bear Creek township $2,425.93; Union $3,507.21; Helveta $1,771.45; St. Lawrence $5,270.21; Little Wolf $3,899.08; Oniedona $3,891.31; Fremont township $2,215.91; Lebanon $563.85; Wyoming $5,833.54; Waupaca township $2,180.47; Lebanon $1,874.84; Matteson $6,154.93; Farmington $1,518.53; Dupont $4,105.07; Helveta $1,942.46; Dayton $5,356.62; Mukwa $3,339.43.

In Mr. Huffcut's report he asked that the board appropriate $112,500 as the county's share of the funds to be used for the 1926 road work. The commissioner also favored a program of concrete construction to the extent of three or four miles for the next few years to be done on the most traveled sections of the state highways.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS HEAR GAMES' LECTURE

New London—Dr. Frank Games, noted biologist, will give what will probably be the last lecture he will ever deliver in this city in the high school auditorium on Tuesday evening. At this time he will speak to the fathers and sons on the subject, "Life's Most Sacred Function." The lecture will be illustrated with motion pictures. The same picture, with a slightly modified form of the lecture was given to the mothers and daughters in the high school on Monday evening.

MANY TURN OUT FOR FIRST CAGE PRACTICE

New London—Basketball practice was started by the students of the high school in Knights of Columbus hall on Monday afternoon, when a large number of members of the school reported for the first workout of the season. Detailed schedules for both boys and girls will be worked out this week, so that each group may have its special time to practice. The practice is under the direction of coach C. T. Polonis, and assistant coach Koten. The inter-class tournaments will be staged soon, so that the Red and White squad may start working for the first game of the season.

INGROWN NAIL

Turns Right Out Itself

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughness the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

BOOTLEGGERS IS FINED WHEN HE ADMITS GUILT

Outside Judge and Jury Were Ready to Go Through With Hemmingson Case

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca — A peculiar situation arose in the opening of this week's session of circuit court Monday morning, when Walter Hemmingson of Scandinavia, pleaded guilty to the charge of illegal possession and sale of intoxicating liquor. When Judge Park adjourned the court a week ago he called Judge G. N. Risjord of the fifteenth circuit district to try this case as the defendant had filed an affidavit that he believed Judge Park to be prejudiced.

The regular November term jury of 36 members was also called, but when the case came to trial Mr. Hemmingson, through agreement between his attorney, Frank E. Keefe of Oshkosh, and District Attorney Otto L. Olson, decided to plead guilty. Judge Risjord expressed some surprise as this was to be the only case he was to try. After some lengthy questioning of the defendant, which brought out a number of facts that tended to influence the verdict of the court a fine of $200 and costs was meted out. The court costs will be heavy on account of the jury being called in to try this case, likely in excess of $150. In the questioning of the defendant it was revealed that Mr. Hemmingson is the father of three children who are motherless. He is the owner of a garage at Scandinavia and declared he had not violated the liquor laws before except to the extent of being arrested for being drunk and disorderly.

Judge Risjord adjourned court when the case was finished until Monday, Nov. 30, when Judge Park will be back on the bench.

Since the county board passed the resolution requiring all public dance halls to be licensed except in some cities there has been received $3,520 in fees. Those receiving licenses are:

Charles Grum, for Grum hall, Mauston; Ed. J. Fuchs, opera house, Mauston; Ernest Jensen, Jansen hall, Mauston; Christ. Halser, Halser hall, Tola; H. Clausen, River View hall, Fremont; Alfred Mortenson, town hall, Big Falls; F. W. Kunderger, Kunderger hall, Readfield; Frank E. Devall, opera house, Fremont; Village of Marion, Marion; H. Colwell, Synco Pavilion, Bear Creek; T. E. Maney, East Side pavilion, Tola; William R. Arnold, Indian Crossings, Farmington; Ralph Conroy, Bear Lake pavilion, Royalton; George Wilhelm, South Branch hall, Harrison.

Sheriff William Toepke and Under Sheriff Halbert Swenson were cooperating with police officials of Appleton in search for the persons who held up the State Bank of Shiocton Friday afternoon. The chase is said to have led through the city of New London where all trace was lost. No positive proof was found that the men actually were in that city, but circumstances made it likely they had been. The local sheriff's expressed fears that some attempt might be made by this gang to burglarize some of the smaller banks of Waupaca-co and for this reason a close watch is being kept on these places.

NOTED READER OPENS WOMANS CLUB SERIES

EDWIN M. WHITNEY
America's foremost dramatic realist, who will be heard at Lawrence Conservatory on the evening of December 1, in one of the best of his interesting repertoire of plays.

Mr. Whitney is more than a mere reader or impersonator in the way he makes every one of a dozen or more characters in a play live before his audience. Bringing his bearers into personal acquaintance with the figures of spoken drama, he is accounted a genius in his ability to seize the imagination and visualize the characters as they weave the pattern of the play. Appleton lovers of drama are looking forward to a rare treat when Mr. Whitney presents the first of the series of entertainments sponsored by the Woman's club. Course tickets now on sale under the direction of Mrs. E. H. Krug and at the clubhouse.

MATCHES PROVE FATAL TO BABY

Funeral Takes Place at Shiocton for Garrison Steede Infant

Shiocton — Burial took place here Friday of the infant which died at Red Granite from burns. Eunice LaValle Steede, year and a half old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garrison Steede. The services were held at 2 o'clock at the home of the child's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Steede, with the Rev. N. W. Conkle in charge. Interment was made in Shiocton cemetery.

The bearers were June Pooler, Arla Valentine, Evelyn McCully and Margery Booth. Evelyn Schwardt and Betty Locke acted as flower girls.

The death of Eunice Steede, which occurred Tuesday at the home of her parents, was caused by burns received from matches while playing with the two other children of the family.

While the mother was absent from the room the older children, finding some matches in some manner ignited the clothing of the baby who was sitting in a high chair. The screams of the oldest child brought the mother to the room and upon entering found the baby enveloped in flames. By means of a rug the mother extinguished the fire but not before the child was severely burned. The child's lungs were weak from a recent illness and she was unable to stand the smoke and flames which she inhaled.

The accident happened about 5 o'clock Monday evening and the little one died Tuesday morning after 11 hours of suffering.

Services were held at Red Granite Thursday morning after which the body was conveyed to Shiocton to the Steede home. Besides her parents she is survived by two sisters Gwendolyn Bethel and Merle Aileen. Those from outside who attended the services Friday afternoon were: G. A. Steele, Ishpeming, Mich.; A. R. Metz, Enterprise, Mrs. Otto Metz, Mrs. Emil Schwartz, Neenah; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Budlow, Tigerton; Mrs. George Cutts and children, Waupun.

STAGE And SCREEN

TARRINGTON STORY

About five years ago Booth Tarrington, world-famous novelist, was induced by Paramount to have one of his books transferred to the screen. The result of this experiment was one of that season's finest pictures, "The Conquest of Canaan."

The star of the picture was Thomas Meighan who comes to the screen at the Fisher's Appleton Theatre on Thursday and Friday in another story by the same author, "The Man Who Found Himself," another prison tale written especially for the "good luck" star by Mr. Tarrington. Alfred E. Green, who directed Meighan in "The Richer Daddy," "Back Home and Back," "Red Piper Malone," and other just as successful pictures, made this one "Tom Grangey," who supervises all of the star's productions, wrote the screen play. Virginia Valli, Frank Morgan, John Harrington, Norman Trevor, Charles Stevenson, Julia Hoyt and Lynn Fontanne are but a few of the big names which appear in the strong supporting cast.

"The Man Who Found Himself" is a semi-serious tale of a happy-go-lucky son of a small town banker who shoulders the blame when his younger brother loses heavily in Wall Street and then borrows bank funds to "cover up." The result is a sojourn in San Sing.

When he once more faces the light of freedom, Tom's outlook on life has been completely changed. His father is dead. Everyone turns his back on him. Even the girl who said she would wait, has married his business rival. He's dead set against everything and everybody.

Things look black. He falters from the straight and narrow path. Then he becomes a reality—THE MAN WHO FOUND HIMSELF. If you like Meighan (and who doesn't), see his latest.

THOMAS BURKE STORY SCORES ANOTHER HIT

Thomas Burke's Lamphouse stories have supplied the material for some of the finest entertainments that have come out of the motion picture studios of America. Another product of Burke's pen at the New Bijou theatre Wednesday and Thursday. It was "Curlytop," starring Shirley Mason, and the production must be placed with the others as an excellent photograph.

Maurice Elvey, the English director, has utilized his first hand knowledge of London's Limehouse district, and given "Curlytop" an authentic atmosphere that adds much to the screen version. Shirley Mason—though many may not recognize her, in beautiful blond curls—is typical as the dainty saucy Burke heroine and fits admirably into the story of the little girl whose beautiful looks brought her the love of all men and the hatred of all women.

An excellent cast supports the star. Wallace MacDonald, as Bill Branigan, makes a fine hero of the underworld and Warner Oland as Shanghai Dan looks every bit the villain he is supposed to be. Diana Miller gives a splendid characterization of the jealous lover of Branigan. Others in the cast are George Kuwah, Ernest Adams, Nora Hayden and La Verne Lindsay.

QUALITY PHILCO TELLS

SAFETY FIRST

In these cold, dark nights it is not pleasant to stick your hand out of the car and signal to the driver behind you that you are going to turn. We have the solution to this problem. The answer is two Day and Nite Lights, one red lamp for the left side of the car and one green for the right side of your car. By touching a small lever the arm that holds the light falls, and the light is turned on. After you have completed the turn, touch the lever again and the light is automatically turned off, and the arm is again in place.

This is a wonderful safeguard for night driving. These lamps can be purchased in pairs or separately. We can install them in a very short time.

members of the company to devise an entire kingdom in which to set the charmingly romantic story, the edelweiss was selected as Graustark's national symbol. It is widely used on uniforms of soldiers, in the city's decorations, and for drapes and bas-relief figures inside the palace.

Norma Talmadge appears in one of her most charming roles in this romantic drama. As the "Princess

Yvette she is once more the lovely young woman who has won such a permanent place in the nation's affection. Eugene O'Brien appears as Graustark's Lorry, the handsome young American adventurer, and the supporting cast includes Marc McDermott, Roy D'Arcy, Albert Gran, Lilian Lawrence, Michael Vavich, Frank Currier, Winter Hall, Wanda Hawley and others.

"Graustark" is now showing at the Elite Theater.

BOARD VOTES TO CLOSE UP COUNTY WORKHOUSE

BASTILE WILL BE LOCKED UP AFTER JAN. 1

Supervisors Suggest Prisoners Be Given Employment Outside of Jail

Accepting the recommendation of the committee on grounds and buildings that the Outagamie county workhouse be discontinued, the county board of supervisors Tuesday adopted the resolution introduced last Friday by Supervisors F. D. Zocholl of Black Creek and William Tate of Bear Creek providing for discontinuance of the institution beginning Jan. 1 for a period of one year or until otherwise directed by the county board. Twelve supervisors voted against adoption, two were absent, and the remainder voted for adoption of the resolution.

In its report recommending adoption of the resolution, the committee pointed out the workhouse is in need of repairs, that this county could follow the system employed in many other counties putting prisoners confined to the county jail to work, their wages to be turned over to the county, and that the institution could be rented. The report of the committee was adopted by the board, and a vote on adoption of the resolution was taken immediately after.

MEET OPPOSITION

Action on the resolution was laid over until Monday when it was introduced last Friday. The committee on grounds and buildings was not prepared to make its report on the institution Monday so action was again deferred over until Tuesday and the committee instructed to make its report at that time.

Discussion which preceded the vote on the resolution indicated that there would be considerable opposition offered to its adoption. Supervisor John Knapsteln of Greenville declared it was his belief that the expense of maintaining the workhouse is less than would be the expense of caring for prisoners at the county jail. He said that with labor as plentiful as it is at the present time, the sheriff would experience difficulty in hiring out the prisoners, as there would be few persons who would care to engage prisoners, especially drunks, when so much more capable help is available. Supervisor A. H. Dieckhoff of Ellington wanted to know what repairs were necessary at the institution, and drew attention to the fact that it had been recently painted and papered.

INVITE TWIN CITY BOYS TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Five members of Appleton Hi-Y club, accompanied by John W. Pugh, club leader, visited high schools of Neenah and Menasha Monday afternoon and spoke to boys of the schools on the State Older Boys Conference which will be held in Fond du Lac on Nov. 27-28 this year. At the Menasha school the club members spoke to the junior and senior boys and at Neenah they spoke to an assembly of all the boys of the school. The boys were encouraged to attend the conference and also were invited to attend the local club meeting Wednesday evening in order to learn more about the conference.

REPAIRS ORDERED

John Wagner, superintendent of the workhouse, told the board that at the last inspection which was made there, orders were received to install hot water and lavatory facilities, but that orders of this sort were received by almost every institution of this nature in the state. The only workhouse which is acceptable in the state is that at Milwaukee, he told the board.

Immediately following the vote on the resolution, Supervisor John H. Nielsen of Kaukauna moved that the committee on grounds and buildings be instructed to supervise the workhouse while it is being rented. His motion was adopted.

The resolution which the board adopted reads:

"Whereas, it is provided by law that jail prisoners may be put to work under the supervision of the sheriff and the money paid over to dependents or to the county treasury at the discretion of the court, and

"Whereas, it is a financial burden to Outagamie co.,

"Therefore, be it hereby resolved by the Board of Supervisors of Outagamie co. that the committee on grounds and buildings of the said county be, and is, hereby authorized to discontinue the use of the said workhouse for the confinement of prisoners beginning Jan. 1, 1926, and continuing for the period of one year or until otherwise directed by this board, and the said committee is authorized to manage and preserve the said property until otherwise ordered by this board."

TRAIN HEADS OF BIBLE CLASSES

Sunday School Superintendents Reelect Officers at Annual Meeting

All officers of the Church School Superintendents club were reelected at a meeting Monday evening in the Y. M. C. A. A. R. Eads was elected president, Dr. J. R. Denyes, vice president; Lacey Horton, treasurer and George F. Werner, secretary. A supper was served at 8:15 in connection with the meeting at which 16 representatives from eight Sunday schools, the Y. M. C. A., the Religious Day School, and the Wisconsin Conference of the Methodist church were present.

After the supper, Dr. J. H. Holmes pastor of the Methodist church, talked on his new plans for Sunday school organization. This was followed by a general discussion. The necessity of securing teachers and training teachers was brought up and Prof. E. E. Emma talked of the training courses to be put on by the Methodist church in this city.

Dr. J. R. Denyes told of a ten weeks training course for Sunday school teachers. A committee was appointed to confer with Dr. Denyes and develop definite courses of training for teachers.

BOARD PREPARES FOR EQUALIZATION BATTLE

A sharp battle of arguments is expected at the county board meeting Wednesday morning when the equalization committee makes its report. Three members of the committee, F. H. Ryan and L. F. Bushey of Appleton and John H. Nielsen of Kaukauna, refused to sign the report because of an alleged injustice to Appleton. Appleton members of the board are expected to lead a fight for rejection of the report or for modification so that Appleton's share of the state and county tax will not be as great as recommended by the committee. Appleton's share of the county tax was increased by 6 per cent this year. This huge increase was called a gross injustice by representatives of the city but the equalization board refused to change its report.

Miss Lucille Elmer has accepted a position as teacher of Physical Education in a state school at Dixon, Ill.

WATER BOARD WILL ASK FOR NEW CHLORINATORS

Replacement of chlorinators which have become worn out will be asked of the common council by Appleton water commission, according to decision reached at its semi-monthly meeting Monday afternoon. Payroll accounts amounting to $1,165.97 and current bills totaling $2,599.83 were allowed. New chlorinators will cost about $850 and as this is part of the capital investment in the plant, the amount must be voted from the city funds. Life of this part of the equipment is limited because the chemicals soon wear out the metals.

Dr. sought to show that her income killed or injured.

Mr. Maloney intends to give a free lesson in Jancie of the Charleston Wednesday evening previous to the usual ballroom period. The lesson will start at 7:30 and conclude at 8:15.

TRIM AVENUE FOR WRISTON FETE

Mercants Agree to Decorate and to Release Workers for Program

All merchants of Appleton will be asked to decorate their places of business and fly flags on Tuesday, Nov. 24, when Dr. Henry M. Wriston's inauguration as president of Lawrence college takes place, according to a decision reached by the executive committee of the retail traders division of the chamber of commerce at a meeting Tuesday morning.

Sidewalk flags will be in place on that date and windows will be made appropriate to the great occasion. An additional vote on the part of the merchants was one by which employees of any store will be granted permission to leave for an hour or two in case they desire to attend the exercises. The inauguration takes place between 10 and 12 o'clock in the morning.

Douglas Malloch, poet and humorist, was the choice of the committee for the speaker at the big retail dinner in January when employees of all stores will be guests. Hugh G. Corbett, secretary of the chamber of commerce was instructed to communicate with Mr. Malloch to learn if he can be obtained.

It was agreed that the merchants would abide by the ballot taken recently as to Christmas shopping hours. The vote was about four to one in favor of keeping stores open Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evening of Christmas week until 9 o'clock and closing at 6 o'clock on Christmas eve.

PROVE EFFICIENCY LAGS IN HIGH TEMPERATURES

Erivan—(AP)—Science has come to the aid of the man who does not want to work in hot weather. Experiments carried out by the Near East relief among the 15,000 children in its orphanage schools and workshops have proved that mental and physical efficiency are seriously lowered when the temperature rises above 73 degrees.

The experiments covered summer temperatures ranging from 65 degrees to 90 degrees Fahrenheit. Maximum efficiency in classroom or workshop is secured under temperatures of 67 to 73 degrees. The human machine's ability to work effectively decreases rapidly as the temperature rises above 73. At a temperature of 90 degrees, the number of mistakes increases by 62 per cent.

WOMEN WELCOME AT RURAL BANQUET

Women of Appleton are as welcome as men at the fall farm festival dinner of the chamber of commerce at 7 o'clock Friday evening at the new First Methodist church, according to announcement of Hugh G. Corbett, secretary.

There seems to be an impression that only men of the city are to attend but that is not the case," said Mr. Corbett. "We are inviting wives of all the farmers and naturally want a large number of local women present to greet their rural neighbors. We have room for only 100 more in the banquet hall so I would suggest that reservations be made early."

WOMAN KNOCKED DOWN BY INTERURBAN CAR

Mrs. Henry Kretschman, 731 E. North-st., was slightly injured Tuesday noon when she was thrown to the pavement at the corner of W. Lawrence and S. Onondas by a street car from which she had just alighted. Mrs. Kretschman alighted from the car and stood on the corner and the rear end of the car knocked her to the pavement when it swung around the sharp curve at the top of the S. Onondas-st. She was unconscious when she was taken into the office of a physician with the assistance of A. P. Jensen, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., who witnessed the accident. She was conveyed to St. Elizabeth hospital by the Kunitz ambulance and an examination showed that she was only slightly bruised.

Miller of Oshkosh, was a Menasha visitor Monday.

WANT CITY TO BUY TRACT OF TIMBER FOR PARK

Menasha—A petition requesting the city to purchase Round's woods, a tract of 18 acres of timber on the outskirts of the city for recreational grounds will be presented at the meeting of the council Tuesday evening. The property is soon to be sold and signers of the petition are in favor of the city acquiring it while it has an opportunity.

TWO SPEAKERS AT RALLY OF ROLL CALL WORKERS

Menasha—The Red Cross rally of roll workers at the public library Monday evening was enthusiastically and well attended. Mrs. Katherine Sullivan of St. Louis, field representative of the Red Cross, gave a talk on the policy of the national Red Cross, and J. H. Ramsey, local chairman, gave a talk on the program of the Menasha chapter.

The roll call is now on and will continue throughout the week. The house canvass for members is being made by high school girls. Booths will be provided Thursday and Friday at the postoffice, public library, Hotel Menasha and banks, where those muscled by the high school workers can enroll their names.

BASKETBALL PRACTICE

Menasha—The scouts of St. Patrick church held basketball practice at S. A. armory Monday evening under Coach Craven. Seventeen members were out. The squad will be composed of ten members and will be selected next week.

STATE GIVES COUNTY BIG SUM FOR ROAD WORK

Menasha—In an address before Winnebago county board, C. C. Hollman of Green Bay, engineer in charge of this highway district, said the state of Wisconsin would have about $14,293,000 to expend for highway construction the coming year of which Winnebago county's proportion would be approximately $188,571 in addition to what is raised by taxes for highway work.

E. M. Bird, assistant highway commissioner, in his annual report said the outstanding pieces of work completed this year were 9 miles of 18 foot concrete highway, 12 miles of gravel and improved highways, 3 county and bridge and one state highway aid bridge. The report showed that the department had expended $491,378.95 altogether during the last year.

SOCIAL ITEMS AT MENASHA

Menasha—Miss Helen Jakowski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Jakowski, 108 First-st., and George Steibel of Racine were married at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning at St. Mary's church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Hummel.

The bridesmaid was Miss Marcelle Jakowski, sister of the bride, and the groomsmen was Lawrence Steibel of Racine, brother of the bridegroom. A reception and wedding breakfast was held at the home of the bride's parents and was attended by 50 relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Steibel left for the northern part of the state for a two weeks wedding trip. They will reside at Racine and will be at home after Dec. 1 in their own new home. Mr. Steibel is connected with the Medina Manufacturing company.

Among the out of town guests who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Steibel of Racine, parents of the bridegroom, James and Lawrence Steibel and Miss Lillian Goebel, also of Racine.

The boy scouts of St. Patrick church will give a card party at St. Patrick school hall next Friday evening. Schakoff, whist and bridge will be played and prizes will be awarded.

The Royal Neighbors which have been conducting a membership campaign, will initiate a class of 10 candidates at the Knights of Columbus hall Tuesday evening. The initiation will be followed by a short program which will include reading by Mrs. Bern and Miss Evelyn Arnett. Refreshments will be served.

The ladies Alton Mater society of St. John church is planning an elaborate Christmas party for members and their children which possibly will be given at St. John school hall the Sunday preceding Christmas. A Christmas tree will be one of the features and there will be gifts for all the children.

The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock Thursday morning at St. John church and will be conducted by the Rev. W. B. Polczyk, pastor. Interment will be made in St. John cemetery. Delegations of the Henry J. Lenz post of the American Legion and the Eagles will attend the services.

FALCONS WILL PUT TEAM IN CITY CAGING LEAGUE

Menasha—The Falcon Athletic society, whose last year team won the city championship last season, is now devoting its time to basketball with the intention of not only having a league for members, but also a team on the city league. The players are practicing almost daily at Falcon hall but the teams will not be selected until later in the season.

AUTOMOBILE AND BUS DAMAGED IN CRASH

Neenah—A left turn at the intersection of Wisconsin-ave and Commercial-st. caused a collision Tuesday morning in which the car owned by H. Madison of Crandon, and a Tractor Co. bus were badly damaged. The Crandon car, driven by Mrs. Madison, was going north on Commercial-st. when the bus, going south on the same street, turned to the left onto E. Wisconsin-ave.

Mrs. Madison did not know the left turn was permitted and was driving across the intersection in accordance with the traffic signal. Edward Steilow, driver of the bus, made every effort to avoid the collision but failed.

SUPREME COURT ALLOWS WIFE $6,800 PER YEAR

When a truck owned by the newspaper company was struck by a train while it was crossing a railroad track. The truck being used at the time of the accident to transport a number of newspapers to their homes after an entertainment, and the boys were all killed or injured.

The truck was covered by liability insurance written by the defendant company, according to the record, and the Journal company demanded that the insurance company indemnify it to the limit of the policy in damage cases arising from the accident. The insurance company refused on the ground that the policy did not cover the risk arising from the accident, but only risks incurred in the use of the truck in the business of the newspaper publishers.

FOR CAB CURTAINS
The cab curtain law passed by the Wisconsin legislature in 1923, requiring curtains on railroad locomotive constitutional of the lath in E. O. to be declared constitutional Tuesday.

In affirming three cases testing the constitutionality of the law, the court through Justice Owen held that the legislation was designed in the interest of public health and for this reason does not violate any federal jurisdiction over interstate commerce.

Three railroads sought to prevent enforcement of the state law requiring curtains on engine cabs. The railroads are the Chicago and North-western, the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul and the Minneapolis, St. Paul and North Star. The law was sponsored by railroad men who sought the curtains as a protection in severe weather.

NOT A UTILITY

In denying the Wisconsin railroad commission authority to pass upon the lease of the Chippewa river company's dam in the Chippewa river at Jim Falls, the opinion written by Justice Doerflinger held that the Chippewa Power company was not a public utility because it never had furnished utility service to the public from the dam. For this reason the court held that the company was not subject to the jurisdiction of the railroad commission.

The Chippewa Power company had a dam in the Chippewa river at Jim Falls and leased it to the Wisconsin-Minnesota Light and Power company, without the former company ever having operated the dam. The railroad commission scheduled a hearing on the lease and the Chippewa Power company applied for an injunction to prevent the commission from passing on the commission from passing on the lease. It was held in circuit court that the railroad commission did not have authority over the lease, and the commission appealed to the higher court.

MADE FALSE ARREST

The question of a policeman's authority to arrest a person whom he sees with a bottle arose in the case of Tony Testolini of Fond du Lac, against whom charges were dismissed.

Testolini was arrested last January while he was standing at the platform of the interurban station in Fond du Lac. The policeman who made the arrest said he saw Testolini with two bottles and suspected that they contained intoxicating liquor. Testolini was convicted in May on a charge of possessing illicit liquor, under the Sevenson state prohibition law, and was fined $200.

The defendant claimed the arrest was illegal and that the bottles containing moonshine were introduced in evidence in violation of his constitutional rights. The state claimed that a policeman may arrest with or without a warrant, any person violating a law in his presence and that the evidence thus obtained was admissible.

AWARDED COMPENSATION

The status of the president, general manager and chief stockholder of a firm as an employee was involved in the Aitchison case in which the decision of the lower court was reversed. Mrs. Leigh Aitchison, who held the three positions in a shop in Milwaukee, was injured in February, 1924, when she slipped on an icy street while on an errand for the firm. The state industrial commission held that she was an employee and that she was performing a service incidental to the employment at the time of the accident. The decision was affirmed by the Dane-co circuit court.

The question submitted to the supreme court were: Whether Mrs. Aitchison was an employee of the firm, and whether an employee, whose occupation does not require her to be on the street to such an extent as to substantially increase the hazards of the employment beyond those to which the public generally is exposed is entitled to compensation for injuries received from a fall on a slippery sidewalk, not a part of the employee's premises.

M. A. Buszewicz, a Milwaukee educator, sought compensation for services which he claimed had been performed in organization work for the Wisconsin Teachers' association. Then he brought a suit in which he asked for $100,000 damages from E. G. Doudna, secretary of the association, alleging that he was libeled in a counterclaim to his previous suit, filed by Mr. Doudna. Mr. Buszewicz lost the cases in the circuit court of Milwaukee-co. and also before the supreme court.

Neenah—Forty-eight members were secured by the Red Cross during the first few days of the drive, according to a report from the Red Cross office. No house to house canvass for new members will be made this year. Instead each home has received a circular requesting the receiver to call at the local chapter office and sign up for a membership. The Red Cross has had the busiest year since the war and will need every member possible.

Following are the members: Mr. C. B. Clark, Mrs. C. B. Clark, Mr. C. A. Babcock, Mrs. F. A. Babcock, Mr. W. C. Bergstrom, 14 National Bank, Miss Helen Babcock, Mr. D. W. Bergstrom, Mrs. D. W. Bergstrom, Mr. John Bergstrom, Mrs. John Bergstrom, Mr. J. W. Bergstrom, Mr. F. A. Hallister, Mr. W. Barnett, Mrs. M. E. Barnett, Mrs. F. W. Bishop, Mr. Homer Bishop, Mr. Emmel Blank, Mrs. Chas. STOP ERECTION OF POLE ON BUSINESS STREET

Neenah—Workmen for the Wisconsin Traction, Light Heat and Power Co. were stopped Monday afternoon from erecting a pole for several cross arms and a large cable box, on N. Commercial-st. directly in front of the Charles Schultz & Son sporting goods store.

The pole was short, with the cross arms about 20 feet above the sidewalk and directly in front of the second and story windows of the Schultz flat. Mr. Schultz appealed to Mayor Sande who said the placing of a pole there was contrary to the fire rule.

CAFE OWNER ARRESTED FOR HAVING LIQUOR

Neenah—Charles Engfer, proprietor of the "Inky" cafe on Main-st. was arrested Monday afternoon on a charge of possessing intoxicating liquor. A search by Charles Watts, chief of police, disclosed a quantity of the illegal liquor in Mr. Engfer's place of business. He appeared before Justice O. P. Baldwin Monday afternoon and waived examination and was bound over to appear Tuesday afternoon in Municipal court.

NEENAH PERSONALS

Neenah—Mrs. D. A. Sizer has returned from a visit with relatives in Minneapolis.

Mrs. O. W. Smith left Tuesday morning for Chicago where she will visit relatives for a week. Mr. and Mrs. John Williams have returned from Madison where they have been spending a few days with their son, Ivan Williams, who is a student at the University of Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. John Williams have returned from Madison where they have been spending a few days with their son, Ivan Williams, who is a student at the University of Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Longwell and Martin Engle have returned from an auto trip to Portage. The car in which they were riding, owned by Mr. Engle, was badly damaged near Merrill's corner when it collided with a car in which they were riding, owned by August Damund, which was stalled along the roadside.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Jones have returned from a visit with relatives in Milwaukee.

F. J. Fleweger of Chicago, is a Neenah business visitor for a few days.

H. M. Malchow of Superior, arrived in Neenah Tuesday morning to attend the funeral of his brother, Paul Malchow.

Carl Jersild has returned from Waukegan where he has been spending the last two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Haertel and children have returned from a visit with relatives in Wausau.

Mrs. F. L. Pader, Mrs. J. R. Schneller, Mrs. H. Krueger and Mrs. I. E. Johnson spent the day in Milwaukee.

Twin City Deaths

PAUL MALCHOW
Neenah—Paul Malchow 46, a resident of this city for several years, died Monday afternoon at his home on E. Forest-ave. He had been ill for the last year and had been in a hospital in South Bend, Ind., for three months. He was brought home a week ago. Mr. Malchow is survived by a widow, one daughter, Margie, La., and one son, Roy, three brothers, Herman, August and Frank, all of Superior, and two sisters, Mrs. Charles Koppke and Mrs. Alex McDonald of Mayville. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the home. The services will be conducted by the Rev. J. G. Pholey of Menasha.

CAR BACKFIRES

Menasha—H. S. Driel of Milwaukee, representative of a wholesale house of that city, fractured his wrist Tuesday while cranking his car in front of Hotel Menasha. The accident was due to backfire.

FALCONS ELECT OFFICERS

Menasha—The Falcon Athletic association will hold its annual election of officers Sunday, Dec. 13. The installation will be held the second Sunday in January.

a counterclaim to his previous suit, filed by Mr. Doudna. Mr. Buszewicz lost the cases in the circuit court of Milwaukee-co. and also before the supreme court.

Neenah—An appropriation of $70,000, to aid in the erection of a new cement bridge over Fox river, here was made Monday afternoon at close of the day's session of Winnebago-co. board. This amount represents about one half of the actual cost of the bridge, the other half to be paid by the state.

Of this $70,000 the city will have to pay 40 per cent which will amount approximately to $28,000. Added to this, will be about $6,300 which represents the 15 per cent of the county's taxes paid by the city of Neenah, in its assessed valuation making a total of about $34,000 to be paid by the city, which will come in the regular collection of taxes.

Neenah—A golden eagle, a rarity in this locality, was found Monday afternoon by boys hunting in a swamp south of the city. About two weeks ago, George Boehm, while hunting on the lake shore, shot at a strange bird of large size and wounded it. It disappeared. The eagle found Monday is thought to be the same bird. It is also thought that after being wounded the eagle settled in the swamp to die. It measured six feet and four inches from tip of tip of the wings and is a fine specimen. Steps will be taken by Neenah Aeris of Eagles to purchase the body and have it mounted for the lodge room.

NEENAH SOCIETY

Neenah—Miss Belle Eustein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Eustein, and Nathan Cooney of Milwaukee, will be married Tuesday evening. The ceremony will take place at 8 o'clock in the club rooms of Equitable Fraternal union building.

Elaborate preparations have been made by Winnebago Chapter of DeMolay for its second annual dancing party on Friday evening in S. A. Cook armory. A corps of decorators under Hugo Kruizer began transforming the main hall of the armory into a fairyland with hundreds of lights, many colored streamers and a fountain in the center of the floor. The committee in charge is making an effort to make the party the big social event of the season.

Miss Minnie Rantz will entertain the Victory club Tuesday evening, at her home on Hewitt-st. The evening will be spent in playing schakoff.

JOHN WILL HAVE 30 DAYS TO FORGET HIS SORROWS

Neenah—John Erma was arrested Monday evening for being intoxicated and creating a disturbance on lower Main-st. where he was giving vent to feelings and wrath in tones heard a block away. This was the second time Erma was arrested on Monday. He appeared in Justice Baldwin's court in the morning and was ordered to pay a fine of $50 and costs or spend 30 days in Winnebago-co. workhouse. He was allowed his freedom to raise money for the fine but instead became intoxicated again and will now have to serve the sentence imposed in the morning.

OSHKOSH COURT FINES NEENAH MEN AS DRUNKS

Neenah—Joseph Sokol and Otto Kuchuk o this city, pleaded guilty to drunkenness Monday afternoon in municipal court in Oshkosh. The two were arrested at a roadhouse a short distance from the Oshkosh city limits where they were creating a disturbance. Each was fined $10 and costs.

Mrs. Willard Peerenboom, 210 N. Morrison-st., who has been at St. Elizabeth hospital for four months, was conveyed to her home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fredrick and sons of Appleton visited at the home of Mrs. Michael Galtner at Mackville Sunday.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation. If you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, 864 N. Marquette-ave., Menasha, N. J., better cut out this notice and show it to any other who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

TWO TEAMS TIED FOR LEAD IN K. C. LEAGUE

Neenah—The DeSota and Marquette teams of the Knights of Columbus league rolled into a tie for first place Monday evening in the weekly event on Calley Inn alleys. Each team has won 16 games and lost 8. Marquette have held the top position for some time. W. Pierce rolled a total score of 631 in his three games, 216 in his first, 193 in the second and 225 in the third, bringing up the average of his team. Osterberg, of the Nicoletis rolled 223 in his second game and Weik of the same team rolled 216 in his second game.

INTELLIGENCE NEEDED ON JURY; LAWYER SAYS

Neenah—Duty of a citizen to be an intelligent juror to act according to evidence presented, was the subject of an instructive talk given Monday by D. K. Allen, district attorney at the luncheon of Neenah club.

Mr. Allen cited many instances to show where intelligence was needed on a jury. He showed where many cases had been tried with a jury which weighed the prisoner and not facts in the case or evidence given. The dinner was attended by a large number of the club.

EXPECT 400 FARMERS AT C. OF C. DINNER FRIDAY

NOTED JUDGE WILL SPEAK AT FESTIVAL HERE

Rural Guests Are Asked to Send or Telephone Reservations at Once

Attendance of at least 400 farmers and their wives is expected at the annual fall festival dinner of the chamber of commerce at 7 o'clock Friday evening at the diningroom of the new First Methodist church, Franklin and Drew-sts. Reservations received up to noon Tuesday indicated that number probably would be here, in addition to many Appleton businessmen.

Wednesday is the last day reservations will be received, because it will be impossible to mail tickets to applicants after Thursday with assurance that they will reach the rural guests in time. Two members of each family in the county are privileged to attend the dinner free of charge as guests of the chamber of commerce. They must place their reservations in advance, however, either by using the blank below or telephoning the chamber office, No. 2701. Tickets will be mailed each person, because none will be admitted unless they are thus provided. Other members of families and all Appleton persons attending will be asked to pay the regular price of one dollar.

WIECKERT PRESIDES

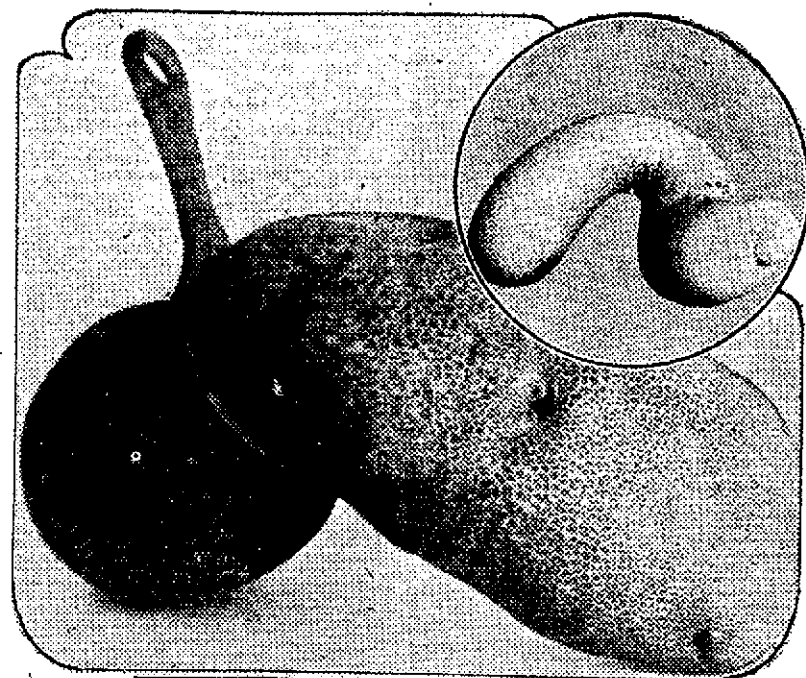

Entertainment features of the program are not completed but the remainder is complete. W. E. Smith, general forum chairman, will call the gathering to order and will introduce the toastmaster of the evening, Walter Wieckert, prominent Holstein breeder. The business men of the forum will be welcomed by Mayor John Goodland, Jr. Community singing will be led by Dr. Earl L. Baker of Lawrence Conservatory of Music. The principal speaker of the evening is to be Judge John McGonigly, who presides over the criminal court of Chicago. His subject will be the World Court of International Relations. This topic soon will be uppermost in the minds of everybody because it is one of the first matters congress will take up in December. His explanation will enable everybody to understand what the situation is all about. A leaflet will be taken to see how sentiment at the meeting stands, after a short explanatory talk has been made by Dr. John R. Denyes of Lawrence college.

The reception committee will be on hand Friday night to greet the city's rural guests and help to acquaint them with the business men. The reception committee will be headed by Seymour Gnielner, chairman of the standing acquaintance committee of the chamber of commerce. It will consist also of the rural affairs and program committees of the chamber and others.

GREET FARMERS

Members of this "Bundshaking" group will be: Stephen Balliet, Gus Kave Keller, Sr., Dr. L. H. Moore, Arthur James, William Fountain, A. E. Zuehlke, Emil Zedler, Anton Giesch, Edward Zeh, Emory Meltz, Malachi Ryan, William Rohan, Dr. H. K. Pratt, Dr. William Madison, George R. Schaefer, R. A. Amundson, C. E. Mullen, John A. Lonsdorf, W. G. Jamison, Harry Leppa, B. J. Rohan, H. L. Dawson, C. O. Gorchamer, P. A. Kornely, G. E. Buchanan, H. F.

NATURE IN A QUEER MOOD

Nature often plays fantastic tricks. The potato shown above carries its own beer bottle opener. This causes philosophers of the soil to wonder what relation, if any, a potato has to a bottle opener has to the prohibition question. The insert is a study for poultry fanciers. What appears to be a snail is a misshapen hen's egg.

Heilig, F. M. Ingler and George Nixon.

Two other committees also are assisting in the preparation. Decorating committee members are H. L. Post, Owen Kuether, Stanley Jamison, A. Kassilke and R. T. Gage. The entertainment committee consists of J. L. Johns, Hugh G. Corbett and B. J. Rohan.

It is expected that the banquet, this year will be handled with less confusion than formerly. The church dining hall is a large one, with excellent kitchen and serving facilities. Women of the First Methodist church will serve the repast. The basement of the new building also affords ample room for area of wraps and for congregating before the dinner hour. The use of tickets will prevent anybody from gaining access to the tables and usurping the place of somebody who spoke for a plate in advance. Any who come without having made reservation previously will be obliged to wait until those with tickets have been accommodated.

The coupon below must be mailed immediately if the signer desires to have tickets reach him on time.

poultry against thefts which have been quite common recently.

To prevent robbery of chicken roasts, several farmers are installing electric lights in the coops that can be snapped on from the residence in case of disturbances. Others are installing burglar alarms. In some cases the accessories consist of bull dogs and the time honored shot gun with bird shot. In general, a sharp watch will be kept on all cars parked without lights in front of farm homes farmers say.

The poultry thieves are not at all particular in their choice, it is reported. If they can lay their hands on turkeys, geese or ducks, they will do so; if not they will be satisfied with chickens. Sometimes the work looks like that of professionals and sometimes like that of amateurs, who may perhaps demand the fowls for gang boys.

One chicken fancier reported the loss recently of 50 chickens, his entire flock, and several turkeys. Another missed 30 chickens one morning. One woman caught a thief red-handed with two sacks filled with chickens, it is said.

WAUPACA HOLDS POTATOES FOR PRICE UPTURN

Absence of Dry Rot Noticed in Storage—North Controls Prices

Special to Post-Crescent

Waupaca — At Waupaca, the leading potato center in the state, growers and shippers are holding stock in storage, feeling that when the colder weather sets in prices will be back at the peak of the forepart of the month. Nearly all stocks are keeping in perfect condition and show no signs of developing dry rot this year as has been the case of the last few years.

In spite of the present weakness of the local and terminal potato markets, there is still a strong underlying current. The indicated yield of 346,503 bushels as compared with 344,277,000 bushels as based on Oct. 1 conditions (as given out by the division of crop estimates of the United States department of agriculture) shows an increase of only slightly more than 2,000,000 for the entire country. The figures of detailed production of each state show the increase mostly in the intermediate and most southern states. Many of the northern states producing the bulk of the winter crop actually show a decline from the estimates of Oct. 1. Marketing of the product will now be controlled by the states of the north until April 1 and the situation is at least unchanged and probably stronger.

For the present the local market is dull, such reaction having been caused by the bullish operations of a prolonged period. Reports of the market by the local representative of the department of markets have stated many times that practically no trading and too few sales were made to establish a market. However, during the greater part of the week's activities the trade prices ranged from $2.50 to $3.00 a hundred pounds or 2 1/2 to 3 cents a pound, which amounts to $1.50 to $1.80 a bushel.

The Chicago market has been dull and weak, with a large number of cars on track throughout the week just past. Wisconsin stock was reported during the week in this market as showing some freezing injury and was quoted below these figures. In the whole United States on Nov. 1 the crop estimate was placed at 346,603,000 bushels. On Oct. 1 it was estimated at 344,277,000 bushels. The final estimate of a year ago was 454,784,000 bushels, and in 1923 it was 412,392,000 bushels. These figures are for the production of the entire United States and give some basis of comparative yields which bring about price conditions.

The final figures to date on the Wisconsin crop are 26,112,000 bushels as compared with the final estimate of 1924 which was 31,460,000, or a difference of 5,348,000 bushels. The latest estimated yield for some of the other more important winter producing states are: California 7,800,000; Colorado 13,530,000; Idaho 11,720,000; Maine 31,992,000; Michigan 25,796,000; Minnesota 38,304,000; Nebraska 8,800,000; New Jersey 7,600,000; New York 39,721,000; North Dakota 13,114,000; Oregon 4,180,000; Pennsylvania

FEEDING EXPERT HERE TO TEACH DAIRY FARMERS

Roy P. Harris Will Meet Dairymen of County Tonight and Wednesday

Feeding schools or meetings for dairymen are to be conducted in the county Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week by Roy P. Harris, who is in charge of official testing for Wisconsin. He will be at the village hall at Black Creek Tuesday evening and at Probst hall, Greenville, Wednesday evening.

These meetings are arranged by R. A. Amundson, county agricultural agent, and the various cow testing associations. The Black Creek gathering was planned by Clever-Black Cow Testing association and Ellington Cow testing association. The second one at Greenville is in charge of dairymen of that locality.

Mr. Harris is an expert on dairy cattle feeding. Mr. Amundson says, and will discuss such topics as mineral feeds, balanced economical rations and general care of dairy cows on winter feeds. It is a live question these days whether it pays to feed cows commercial feeds, with the abundant supply of homegrown feeds. This situation will be discussed as well as the value mineral feeds have and just how to manage to get the most out of them.

Any farmer interested in feeding dairy cows is welcome at the sessions as they are not restricted to those in testing associations.

There are now about 2,500 cows being tested every month in Outagamie county.

EACH HEN GAINED EIGHT EGGS OVER YEAR AGO

Madison—(AP)—Jefferson county has the outstanding flock of poultry in Wisconsin for 1925.

The flock of chickens owned by H. N. Graves and Son, made an increase in egg production of 8.61 eggs per hen over that of 1924. The same birds made a record in 1924. For a period of six months, between December and May, their increased egg production amounted to 18.38 eggs for each hen. The greater production was due to the raising of purchased chickens, proper housing facilities, and the right kind of feeding. J. R. Hayes, of the poultry staff of the Wisconsin college of agriculture asserted.

Originally the flock consisted of mixed breeds, but they were supplemented by pure bred birds in 1921. The flock was well housed and the principle of mash feeding was followed by the owner.

What Your Neighbor Is Doing

(This column, relates interesting things that are going on at the farms in this vicinity. Every farmer is invited to contribute items about his crops, herds, poultry or his farm itself. Mail or telephone them to "Farm Editor.")

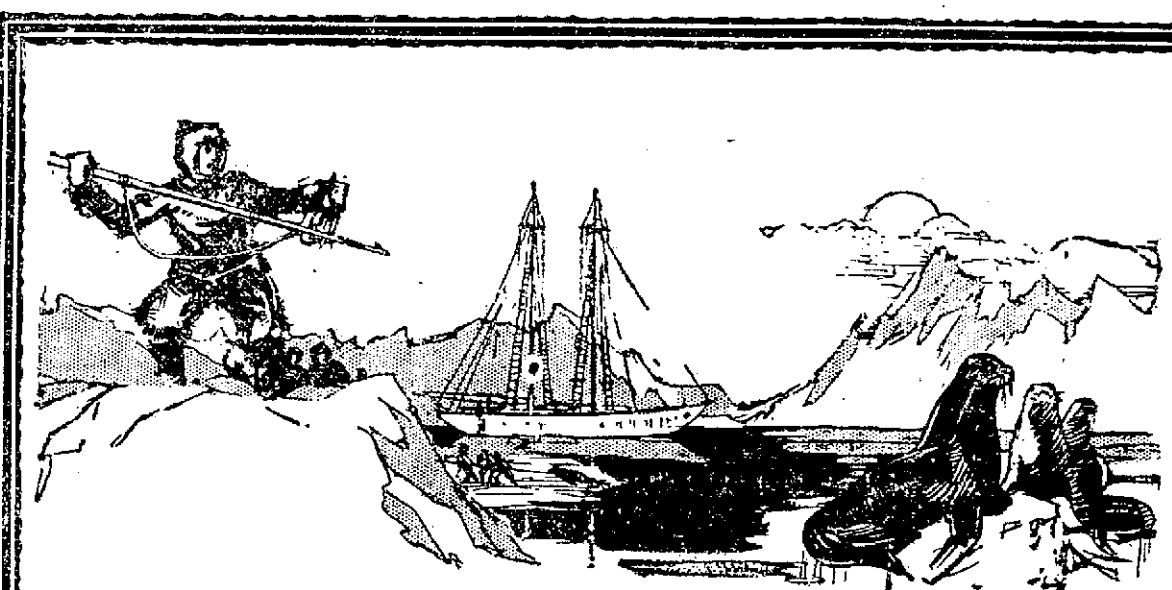

A Clintonville man, Albert Wagner, owner of the Blue Ribbon stock farm, received $1,330.55 for one load of clover seed sold to Braun & Collnow. The load weighing 5,445 pounds, consisted of 2,885 pounds of white clover seed and the balance of red.

The dispersal sale of Holstein cattle of Dan Kolosso, owner of the Clover Valley farm of Manawa, netted $5,480, an average price of $94.56 an animal in a herd of 58 head. The top price paid for a cow was $275. The herd sire sold for $200; he was Sir Bess Daisy. J. E. Mack of Fort Atkinson, was the auctioneer and Reid F. Muray of Madison, was pedigree expert. Thirteen years of effort was represented in the herd.

Peter J. Schuh of Freedom, butchered a porker that when dressed tipped the scales at 592 pounds. Mr. Schuh reports a yield of 65 tons of alfalfa hay from two cuttings. He has started a herd of purebred Brown Swiss cattle with four heifers and a herd sire. He threshed 1,500 bushels of oats, 50 bushels of rye and 150 bushels of barley, and delivered 33 tons of sugar beets to the dump as the product of 2 acres. He has filled two large silos with 22 acres of corn.

MacMillan Chooses "A Well-Balanced Diet Built Around Meats"

Nothing developed on the trip to cause me to revise my idea about foods; which is that a well-balanced diet built around meats yields the best health results.

On the way north we had fresh domestic meat from the supply taken aboard when we sailed. After we reached the North we relied upon the wild life of the region, using seal, walrus, caribou, muskox, Arctic hare, and many kinds of wild ducks.

Every day we had fresh meat with plenty of fat at at least one meal and usually oftener when supplies were plentiful, and every one came through the four months in excellent condition; in fact, most of the members of the party gained weight.

While we often hear it claimed that eating too much meat is unfavorable to health, it is a fact that such ailments as gout, hardening of the arteries, and other disorders attributed to an excess of meat eating are quite unknown to the Eskimos who eat nothing but meat.

In my own experience I have never known anyone to attempt to live in the Arctic on a vegetarian diet. On the other hand, every Arctic explorer nowadays relies upon the native fresh meats as a sure preventive of scurvy, a much dreaded nutritional disorder which was prevalent in earlier Arctic experience times before we learned a lesson in diet from the Eskimo.

Now Somers feels great!

Says Tanlac was "like a lifeline thrown out to him"

Charles Somers is a salesman. Success in his work calls for an alert mind and the energy that only comes with boundless health.

For a solid year he suffered with stomach trouble until he was almost a nervous wreck. He couldn't eat. He couldn't sleep. In a few months' time he lost fifteen pounds and was going rapidly down hill. Now, thanks to Tanlac, Somers feels great. His nerves are steady. His appetite has come back. He has regained his lost weight and is in the pink of condition. He writes: "I dread to think what would have become of me without Tanlac. It was like a lifeline thrown out to me as I was going down for the last time."

LETTER FROM MELVILLE SARTORIUS TO LESLIE PRESCOTT

My Dear Mrs. Prescott: May I have the pleasure of sending you the story of Michael Arlen.

Only that you have been so busy lately with business and other sensational happenings, I am quite sure you would have read these charming stories.

As it is, I hope I am the first who has presented them to your notice.

Because I like them so well—especially the one called "Charming People"—I have had them specially bound for you.

I am going in about a month for New York, where I shall remain for the season and then perhaps go into Egypt. As you know, my novels are all of American life, but I usually go to some foreign country for my atmosphere.

Americans in America are commonplace. Americans on the streets or in the saloons of Cairo are romantic and interesting.

This morning, with some vague idea that I might get the nub of a story I had up my mind, and drove down the "Main Street" of Albany. All the girls were wearing coats with fur around the bottom, where it was only good for looks and not around the top where it might possibly do some good.

All the men were wearing bright red neckties and Prince of Wales hats. There was nothing about them that would stir the imagination.

But if you would take one of each of them and put them together in the streets of Cairo you would be ready to write of romance and moonlight, which after all is what the publishers want and the public likes to read. Just between you and me, life is life's great adventure, after all.

I seem to know a better today than I ever did before.

By the way, I expect to be in Pittsburgh next week Wednesday and I shall be delighted if you and Mr. Prescott will dine with me that night at 7. I will phone you as soon as I get in where it will be. I would like very much to have you at the Travelers' Club and think it can be arranged if you are not having one of their welcome luncheons over some returning traveler.

So that poor little Miss Ellington is dead. She was most interesting the night of your party. Although she looked so careful and trusting, there came into her eyes at times alternate glimpses of determination and fear that made me wonder if you or anyone else really knew anything about her.

She was very young, and yet perhaps it was better for her to die than to live under the cloud which seemed to have settled upon her. Her life was the kind which makes good stories and perhaps when I reach Egypt I shall take her for my heroine, even though I have another all picked out for that somewhat dubious honor.

An evening with you and Mr. Prescott, I hope, will see you on Wednesday evening. Sincerely,
(Copyright, 1925, NEA Service, Inc.)

TOMORROW — Note from Leslie Prescott to Karl Whitney.

Adventures Of The Twins

BUTTONS, A FARTHING A PAIR:

"I will give you some advice," said Mrs. Peter to Juggle Jump and the twins. "You had better go to every body in Daddy Gander Land and ask them to show you their button-boxes. We may find some of Puff's buttons there. I shall go to Mrs. John's house first."

So off they went to Pippin Hill to the House That Jack Built.

Mrs. John was sitting on her front porch darning Jack's and Jill's stockings.

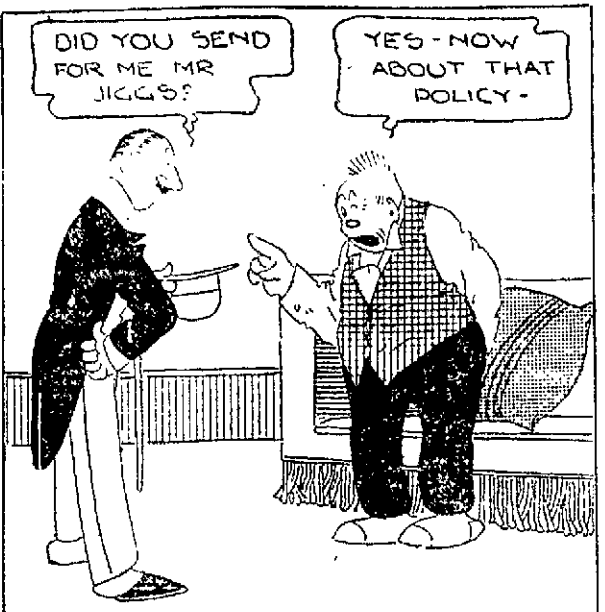

"When they fell down the hill," she explained, "they tore their knees clear out. Where the pieces went to I don't know."

"Why, yes, my dears, I'll look in my button box and see if any stray buttons got in," she said. "Sit down, please, everybody, while I go and get it."

(Out came Mrs. John in a few minutes with a button box as big as a drum.)

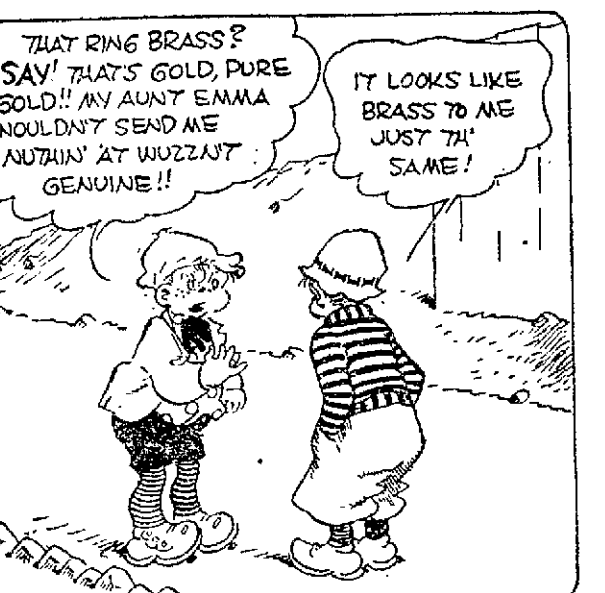

Then she sat down on her rocking chair and dumped the buttons all out into her lap.

Hair Beauty

Thick, Gleamy Hair in a Moment

Girls: Try this! When combing and brushing your hair, just moisten your hair brush with a little "Danderine" and brush it through your hair. The effect is startling! You can dress your hair immediately and it will appear twice as thick and heavy, an abundance of gleamy, wavy hair, sparkling with life, incomparably soft, fresh, youthful.

Besides beautifying the hair, a 35-cent bottle of refreshing, fragrant "Danderine" from any drug store will do wonders, particularly if the hair is dry, thin, brittle, faded or streaked with gray from constant curling and waving which burn the color, luster and very life from any woman's hair.

NEWS FROM THE RANCH.

LEGION CAGERS OPEN SEASON WITH MENASHA HERE

Four Strong Cage Squads In New Eastern Wisconsin Home Talent Court Loop

Les Holzer and C. O. Baetz in Charge of Organizing Local Talent for Loop Play

Appleton's representative in the new Eastern Wisconsin Basketball League, the American Legion squad, will open its 1925-26 season at Armory G on Thursday evening Dec. 10 with the Menasha city team as its first opponent according to the schedule announced this week. On Saturday evening of the same week the local squad will meet the Moose lodge crew of Fond du Lac, the Fountain city representative in the loop, at Moose hall at Fondy. The loop teams will play one at home game and one out of town game a week on an 18-game schedule.

C. L. PreFontain, secretary of the E. W. basketball loop the past summer will be the czar of the new loop, handling all the executive jobs from president to secretary-treasurer. Each club has a representative on the board of directors. C. O. Baetz is the local director and Leslie "Les" Holzer, former manager of the Appleton Aces will manage the local squad for the Legion. The league season will end Feb. 13. Each team will be allowed 15 players at the start of the season, but this number will be cut down to ten after the first few weeks of playing. All players must be home talent and no team will be allowed to import a single out-of-town man.

Appleton's squad will start practice this week and any man in the city is eligible to try out for the squad. He should get in touch with Manager Holzer at his home around the supper hour. Many promising youngsters have been playing here for the last few years, on independent squads and in various industrial and school loops and these men will all be out for the local squad. Kimberly is the only town in the loop that does not have to use home men. The village is given a choice from the workers of the Kimberly-Clark mill also. Only four teams are represented in the loop. They are the Appleton American Legion, Kimberly-Clark mill, at Kimberly, Menasha Athletic Association, Moose lodge team of Fondy, Fondy has a wealth of high school and college stars out for their crew and expects to have the strongest team in the loop. The squad is headed by Bill Fitzgerald, a member of old Fondy state title high school teams and a Ripon college player for forty years. Red Gerhard and Bill McKinley of Fondy high championship teams also are well known here. Pete Lepine, E. W. loop ump, is head of the crew.

Kimberly-Clark is headed by L. O. "Ossie" Cooke, old Lawrence three letter star and contains men like Cooke, Klundt and Pete Kohl of orange cage fame. Menasha has a host of old high school athletes as well as some of the best independent men in this part of the state. League officials expect it to be as great if not a greater success than the diamond loop. The only long jump is Fondy with Menasha, Kimberly and Appleton so close together and traveling expenses will be extremely light.

The complete schedule is: Dec. 8—Fond du Lac at Kimberly; Dec. 8—Kimberly at Menasha; Dec. 10—Menasha at Appleton; Dec. 12—Appleton at Fond du Lac; Dec. 15—Appleton at Kimberly; Dec. 16—Fondy at Menasha; Dec. 19—Menasha at Fondy; Dec. 22—Menasha at Kimberly; Fondy at Appleton; Dec. 23—Appleton at Menasha; Dec. 26—Kimberly at Fondy; Dec. 29—Menasha at Appleton—Fondy at Kimberly; Dec. 30—Kimberly at Menasha.

Jan. 2—Appleton at Fondy; Jan. 5—Fondy at Menasha; Jan. 6—Menasha at Fondy; Jan. 12—Menasha at Kimberly; Jan. 14—Fondy at Appleton; Jan. 16—Appleton at Menasha—Kimberly at Fondy; Jan. 19—Fondy at Kimberly; Jan. 21—Menasha at Appleton; Jan. 23—Kimberly at Menasha—Appleton at Fondy; Jan. 26—Appleton at Kimberly; Jan. 28—Kimberly at Appleton; Jan. 30—Fondy at Menasha.

Feb. 2—Fondy at Appleton; Feb. 6—Kimberly at Fondy—Appleton at Menasha; Feb. 9—Menasha at Kimberly; Feb. 13—Menasha at Fondy.

Salt Lake City—Nelle Grayson of Rawlins, Wyo., and Johnny O'Brien, of Boston, fought six rounds to a draw.

Only 3 Lettermen Back For Badger Cage Squad

Madison hardly will Wisconsin's warriors of the gridiron be mustered out following the final game of the season Saturday with Chicago than another unit of Badger swing into action. Dr. Walter E. Bowman's basketball five tackles the first of its difficult sixteen game schedule when it meets the North Dakota Aggies here December 4.

Coach McNeill has been laboring long hours with his squad of inexperienced men. Last season was Wisconsin's worst in her entire basketball history and every effort is being made to save this year's squad from a similar fate. Cage practice started shortly after school opened this fall and has been in progress ever since.

MARKS ADOPTED AT SPORT MEET

A. A. U. Officials Wind Up Annual Convention With Fights for Record Adoptions

Pittsburg, Pa. (AP)—The delegates of the Amateur Athletic Union winding up their annual convention here Tuesday turned their attention from the exchanging of votes to gain championships for their cities and districts to the business of selecting officers for the next year.

President Murray Hulbert, New York so far has no opposition in his quest for reelection.

Following the election of officers the selection of a city for the 1926 convention will occupy the delegates time.

There were a few word battles among the delegates during the transaction of business. Gustavus Kirby, President of the Intercollegiate A. A. U. exchanged words with J. Goldsmith chairman of the records committee when the latter reported his committee had failed to recommend adoption of 23 feet 1 1/2 inch running head jump indoor mark or William A. Dowling of Georgetown University, made at a meeting in New York February 17 at which Kirby was referee.

Lawson Robertson, Olympic team coach and a member of the records committee, was present at the meet. He reported that the put was three inches lower than the take-off. President Hulbert intervened and prevailed upon delegates to allow the matter to be referred back to the committee.

All told 200 records were approved and 60 rejected. Most of the rejections were based on the fact that better marks had been made in live events. Parvo Nunn and Willie Rilla had marks for "trick" distances refused Nunn's was for 4,000 yards and Rilla's for three and one quarter miles.

Joe Ray's name appears only once in the new records Ray and Nunn share the mile mark of 4:12.

Jackson Scholz is the sole possessor of the 10 yard dash record having a mark of 9.5-10 seconds, made at Greenboro N. C. last May.

Charles Brooks, of the University of Iowa, had his 23 seconds mark for the 20 yard hurdles accepted after a two year fight.

The supremacy of Agnes Geraghty swimming field is best asserted by her record of holding all but four of the breast stroke honors for women.

Thus far the only action taken by the rule committee is to place a 220 yard dash upon track and field programs in women's athletics. No athlete can compete in the 220 yard dash if she has already entered in a race of 10 yards distance.

Philadelphia continued its quest of championship trophies and was awarded the senior women's outdoor track and field events in addition to the six meets previously secured for the Sesqui-centennial.

IDLE DUDMEN HOLD TOP IN NET LEAGUE

Standings	W.	L.	Pct.
Biggs Papermakers	8	1	.888
Drugs Pumpmakers	7	2	.777
Kreuzers Spikers	5	4	.555
Charles Giants	5	4	.555
Fewegers Stampmakers	5	4	.555
Maulsies Chbs	3	6	.333
Wydevens Footmen	3	6	.333
Clubhouse Boosters	2	7	.222

Biggs Pumpmakers slipped slightly over the weekend but still cling to second place in the Kimberly Valley league. Their percentage was lowered. They lost a tough battle to Kreuzers Spikers, the second place team, but copped the other two. With their opponents holding down the next notch the loss of the game was not a bad. The Spikers dropped within reach of the fourth place. Charles Giants who were idle, Fewegers Stampmakers took two out of three from the cellar champion Clubhouse Boosters, showing that crew farther into the rut and showing up two matches to fifth place. The Maulsies Chbs and Wydevens Footmen were idle but took a drop of one position with the Stampmakers advance.

FRIENDS DENY GRANGE WILL PLAY WITH BEARS

Urbana, Ill. (AP)—Friends of Red Grange Monday night denied he was signed to play football for the Chicago Bears Sunday. Efforts to reach Grange failed, but he has promised that he will make an announcement whether he will play or not as soon as he has formulated his plans.

Buffalo—Frankie Grange N. Y. defeated Vic St. Angelo, Buffalo, in the fourth round of a 12 round battle, the referee stopping the bout.

BLUE MOONS TAKE 3 IN ROW IN PIN DUEL

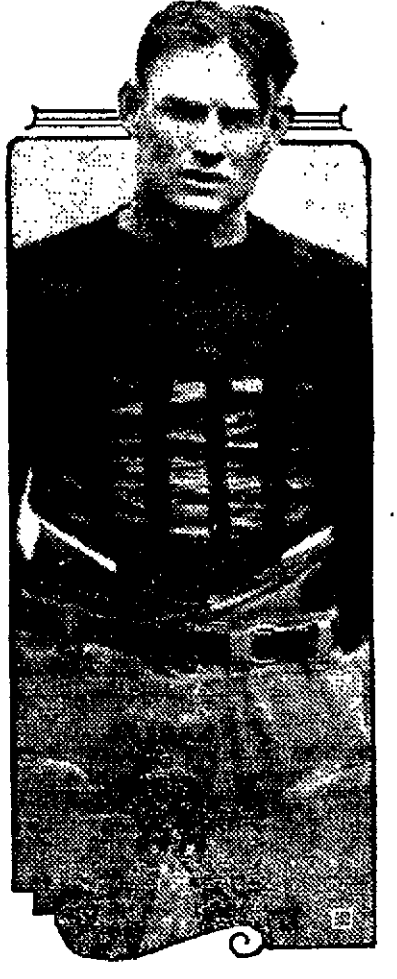

Blue Moon bowling team of Kimberly put the village on the pin map Friday evening by getting off to a fine start in the new Fox River Valley Bowling league by trouncing Dick's Five of Little Chute three straight battles on the Kimberly alleys. A total of 261 pins was the margin between the two teams, giving the Kimberly boys an easy win to start with.

H. Williams of the winners shot a 583 score for high series, getting a 21 for high game series in the process. Another teammate rolled into the 200 class with a 204 score. None of the other pinmen got into the honor class.

LOCKE STARS IN TWO SPORTS

GORDON LOCKE
Lincoln, Neb.—To be a star in track and football is somewhat out of the ordinary nowadays. For the two sports as a rule don't mix.

Track celebrities, especially sprinters, can hardly afford to take a chance on playing the gridiron pastime, for an injury might possibly render them unserviceable for work on the enders.

True, there are exceptions to the football-track rule. One of the most outstanding, perhaps, is Gordon Locke, sensational sprinter of Nebraska University and captain-elect of the 1926 thin-clad team.

Locke not only twinkles in the dashes on the track aggregation, but he's a pretty nifty footballer, too. He's one of the stars of this fall's Cornhusker eleven, which started the football world by halting the great Grange and whipping Illinois a few weeks ago.

Locke can turn the century and finding events in close to record time. He's one of the fastest sprinters Nebraska has ever boasted. Obviously, his great speed makes him an especially valuable asset on the football team. A good dodger and clever in an open field, Locke is extremely hard to bring down once he gets under way.

Two other middle western stars who tried the grid game within recent seasons didn't meet with much success. They were Charley Brooks, Iowa, and Dan Kinsey, Illinois, both punters. Kinsey sustained an injury which put him in a time threat to put him out of track. Others have also failed.

Track team coaches, generally speaking, don't like to have their star sprinters and hurdlers go in for football. And they usually discourage them to hang up as fine a record on the gridiron as he has on the enders, barring, of course, the old bugaboo injury.

GREEN "Y" SQUAD LOSES TO D. I.'S

Putting a team on the alleys composed of experienced men, two of whom had never bowled a game of pins before this season, the Y. M. C. A. went down to defeat Friday evening before the Delta Iota fraternity crew, one of the strongest pin teams in the Lawrence College Interfraternity loop and last year the Eagle alleys. The hosts all frantically fought hard but were easily outclassed, dropping three straight battles by a total margin of 351 pins or more than 115 pins per game. Locke of the winners got the high series of the evening with 509.

BAKER CREW LICKS KIMBERLY HARDWARES

Bakers Doughnuts slid up another notch in the Kimberly Business Men's Bowling League Friday evening when they took the Kimberly Hardware into camp in two games and tied the third to cop the series by 70 pins. M. Bush of the winners shot a 415 for high gun of the evening.

KREUZ BROTHERS SHINE AT FULL SINGLES PINMEN

Famous Al of Pennsylvania Eleven Now Challenged by Brother Bob at Wisconsin

Madison—That the Kreuz family of Menominee, Michigan, is a producer of fullbacks is a proposition that during the past few weeks has definitely passed over into the field of proven facts.

Albert, the elder, University of Pennsylvania star, has been making eastern gridiron history for some time and is now playing in his senior year of competition.

Robert, the younger, just this fall stepped into regular fullback's shoes on one of the best eleven the University of Wisconsin has had in several seasons, and it is he who has scored the Badgers' winning touchdowns in their two conference victories over Ohio and Iowa.

The Wisconsin Kreuz is coming to rival his famous brother in ability to smash an enemy line with all the impetus of a locomotive headed down grade. Both are hard tacklers and blockers.

Robert Kreuz is also a javelin thrower of considerable ability. Last year a sophomore, he placed in the Big Ten Conference and National Intercollegiate meets. Earlier in the season he made the transcontinental track trip to Berkeley, Calif., and there connected, going some of the men Albert Kreuz had met the fall before when he made the coast trip with the University of Pennsylvania football team.

Nor are these contemporary athletes the only ones in the family to star in football lore. Still an older brother, Louis, came for Wisconsin as a fullback in 1923.

One or two more like them and Webster's successors will list the words "Kreuz" and "fullback" as synonyms.

Omaha Sport Scribe Gives Mills And Purdy Big Razz On Recent Pro Grid Fight

Says Tommy Should Have Known Better and Calls Pidd Capitalizer of Athletic Skill

Scoring Coach Tommy Mills of Beloit for ever expecting to play Everett "Pud" Purdy, cause of two protests by Midwest college teams this season, in a conference which boasts of such as clean record as the Midwest, and characterizing the Beatrice flash as a "pro-saturated strutter who has capitalized every athletic ability he has and been well paid for it." Frederick Ware a member of the sporting staff of an Omaha newspaper takes a crack at Purdy, Mills and the conference in general. Ware conducts the Sportlog column in the Omaha paper and his comments on the situation are very much to the point. He writes a complete column of red hot stuff on the matter. Here's what Mr. Ware, a man who knows the situation, has to say:

"How Tommy Mills expects or dares to expect to play Pud Purdy as an eligible collegiate in the Beloit backfield, even in a one building campus conference where regulations are as stringent as at a longshoremen's battle royal, is beyond my understanding. Use of this pro-saturated strutter takes rank with the contract scrapping of wrestling and fight promoters and the door smashing of prohibition agents. If Pud possesses any athletic talents he hasn't capitalized, it is because those talents are undiscovered. He wouldn't even be eligible for water boy on the Rabbit Business college second team, which demands that candidates consecrate themselves to holy service. Pud has been paid, and paid well for all manner of Service he has rendered."

"No Nebraska high school has ever produced a quarterback to match Pud Purdy of Beloit. He apparently was headed for Nebraska university where the deeds of an older brother are still talked about. Then, during summer vacation a trip with a ball team, seventy-five cents spent for a meal, in the eyes of the state high school board of control Pud Purdy was branded as a professional forever. His chances of intercollegiate participation apparently gone. Pud went into professional sports as wholeheartedly as he had played on dat-

mond and gridiron for the Orange and Black of Beatrice.

This fall after a summer with the Lincoln club of the Western league and the football season of 1924 with the unsuccessful Omaha Olympics, came the bid from Beloit. Loving football, Pud accepted. It was as impossible to keep dark the history of picturesque Pud as to suppress the alleged findings of female vice snooters in a movie colony. Purdy won two games for Beloit. Protest upon protest follows those victories. An offensive odor issues from the steaming mess in the midwest conference."

ARMY STORE PINMEN BEAT ROYAL FIVERS

Appleton Army Store pin team, a new quint in local circles, whipped the Royal Five crew Friday evening in a battle on the Eagle alleys. The Army store pinmen knocked the losers twice in three tries and copped by just 26 pins. The losers piled up a 100 pin lead in winning the first game, but the Army store maple busters in winning the second battle by 33 pins still were far in the rear but a 133 pin win on in the final battle put their across the finish line ahead.

Growth

A typical example of Graham Brothers remarkable progress in the truck industry was the month of September.

Production for this single month was 171 per cent of production for the entire year of 1921.

Astonishing growth, yet readily understood by owners, to whom Graham Brothers Trucks have brought vastly improved service simultaneously with a sharp reduction of costs.

"COAL IS KING"
IN SPITZBERGEN,
LAND OF SNOWS

Physical and Labor Problems
Abound in Far Off Country
Mining Region

Longyear City, Spitzbergen, (AP)—Mining in Spitzbergen presents peculiar features that are not met with anywhere else in the world. It is a long tramp from Longyear City to the mine entrance across a boulder-strewn valley between two snow-covered mountain ranges. In the spring, the slowly melting snow turns the valley, really moraine, into a morass of slush and mud, with rapid little watercourses winding their way toward the fjord.

Working gangs are hoisted in open cable cars 500 feet up at an angle of some 60 degrees to the main gallery, which opens out on the mountainside and looks from below like an ugly black scar.

From here, galleries run horizontally through the heart of the mountain, with an exit on the other side. Thus there is a constant supply of fresh air, and the temperature within is constant; about five degrees of frost all the year around. There is a remarkable absence of dust which is kept down by shoveling in snow from outside. This snow never melts, and it helps to keep the air pure.

Pillars of solid ice, said to be millions of years old, and many feet thick, form reliable natural supports for the galleries, which are reinforced by wooden balks.

ARE PROUD
The company's engineers are proud of their American electric traction equipment which conveys the coal from the bowels of the earth to the outfit high up on the mountainside, where an endless chain of tips carries it down to the distant harbor. Much safer, they say, than the benzine cars used in the Swedish mine on Braganzza Bay at the end of the Bell Sound further south. Not long ago, a benzine tank exploded there, fortunately during nonworking hours. No one was killed, but the coal became ignited and that mine has been burning for weeks.

People who have spent four consecutive years in Spitzbergen are pretty rare.

Coal is king in Spitzbergen and even more so in terms of coal, which is no wonder, seeing that the existence of all the thousand odd inhabitants of these islands is dependent upon the production of that commodity, since the whaling industry was ruined many decades ago by reckless slaughtering methods employed by the hunters.

Of ten mining companies which own land in the archipelago, the principal concerns, two Norwegian, one Dutch and one Swedish, produce over half a million tons annually, all of which is used in Norway, Finland and Northern Russia for domestic and industrial purposes.

It was the late John M. Longyear, of Boston, Mass., who together with his friend, Frederick Ayer, located some 25 years ago the most promising coal fields in these parts, which are estimated to contain 500,000,000 tons, or about one-quarter of the total supply supposed to exist, as far as is known, in all Spitzbergen.

Much of the Spitzbergen coal is of a porous kind, which incidentally is the reason why a fire which started some three years ago in one of the local galleries is still burning. It has been found impossible to exclude air wholly from this seam, and when an Associated Press correspondent visited the place a thin vapor was seen now and again to be rising from the smoldering interior of the mountain. Work at this particular spot is of course at a standstill.

BREAKING A WORLD'S RECORD

YOUNG BOB RAPS MOVE TO CUT ESTATE TAXES

Madison (AP)—The movement at Washington in favor of the repeal of the federal inheritance tax is part of a movement for the eventual abolition of all taxation upon great estates. Senator Robert M. La Follette, Jr., says in his first public statement since his election, Senator La Follette makes his statement in a signed editorial in La Follette's Magazine for November.

FILM DIRECTOR LAUDS JOURNALISTS' TALENTS

Hollywood, Cal. (AP)—Sidney Olcott, generally believed to be one of the three highest salaried directors in the motion picture business, expressed the conviction that the great screen writers and directors of the future will come from the ranks of newspaper men and women.

Olcott went a step farther and declared that the film industry should capitalize the "nose for news," trigger-like habit of decision, knack of getting details and close-up knowledge of human nature which he said every capable newspaper man or woman possessed.

Slunk out Melville S. Stone, veteran counsel of the Associated Press, as an outstanding example to prove his point, the film director said that Mr. Stone embodied the requirements of the writer or director that would have carried him to the very top had he chosen to turn his talents into the field of the silent drama.

JAPAN ISLAND COVERED BY DESTRUCTIVE BEARS

Tokyo—(AP)—It is reported from Nemuro, Hokkaido, that bears are increasing so rapidly in Yutorop, the largest island in the Kurile group, that the inhabitants are seriously considering appealing to the Japanese government for aid. It is variously estimated that there are now between 8,000 and 10,000 bears on the island.

Hundreds of horses and cattle are killed and eaten by the bears yearly, it is said, and unless something is done to exterminate the brutes, it is feared stock farming on the island will have to be discontinued. A bounty of 15 yen is at present given for each bear killed.

ENGLISH CITY TRADE AREA RAISED 5 FEET

Northwich, Eng. (AP)—Shifting houses bodily several miles, and towns some camps along the level, has often been done, but raising a whole town five feet is something new. This is claimed to have been accomplished by the surveyor of this town in just under three years. The entire business portion of Northwich, including ten streets, three banks, the county court and 200 stores and houses, have been raised to counteract the effect of subsidence caused by the brine pumping which proceeds continually in the salt mines under the town.

There has been no stoppage of business and only eight buildings, including an ancient inn, have had to be demolished because they could not be safely lifted.

In raising operations, parts of the lower backwork were removed and small hydraulic jacks inserted. Chemical stores were lifted so carefully that not one bottle was disturbed. The town bridge was raised five feet at each end to bring it up to the new level of the town.

GERALD NYE GETS SEAT IN U. S. SENATE

Former Hortonville Editor Succeeds Senator Ladd of North Dakota

A former Outagamie co resident has been elevated to a seat in the United States senate.

Gerald P. Nye, formerly editor of the Hortonville Weekly Review, and now a resident of North Dakota, has been appointed by Governor A. G. Surles of that state to succeed Senator E. P. Ladd who died shortly after the death of Senator LaFollette.

The appointment was made Saturday, and Mr. Nye will attend the sessions of congress starting in December and will continue to hold office until June when a special election will be held to fill the vacancy until the expiration of the term.

Mr. Nye is at present editor of the Griggs County Sentinel-Courier of Cooperstown, N. D. As a member of the United States senate he will be the second youngest senator. He is 33 years old, and the youngest senator, Young "Bert" LaFollette, is 30.

The junior North Dakota senator is well known among Outagamie co people. Although he was born and reared in Wittenberg, Shawano co, most of his relatives live in Hortonville and vicinity. Hortonville was the original home of the Nye family in this state. Mr. Nye is a son of the late Irving R. Nye who met an accidental death when he fell out of a hotel window in Chicago in 1923. The latter was a member of the firm of Hollenbeck & Nye, which published the New London Republican and the Hortonville Weekly Review.

He is a nephew of Wallace Nye who was mayor of Minneapolis for several terms, also a nephew of Leonard Nye who lives in Hortonville. A brother was a linotype operator for the Appleton Post-Crescent a few years ago. Gordon McKeljohn, proprietor of the Soda Grill, New London, also is a relative of the senator.

WISCONSIN DEATHS

NICHOLAS ZEHREN

Clintonville—Nicholas Zehren, 85, died at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. M. W. Long, Clintonville. He was noticeably failing Saturday morning. The body was conveyed to the home of Mrs. Zehren, this city, Sunday morning. Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Wednesday morning from the Catholic church with the Rev. M. Gommering in charge. Burial will be made at Graceland cemetery.

Mr. Zehren was born at Trier, Rhine Province, Germany, and emigrated to America at the age of 15 with his parents. The family settled on a farm at Ashford. Fond du Lac co. Mr. Zehren was married to Mary Gindl of Ashford. In 1874 they took up a homestead two miles south of Clintonville on highway 26, where a son John resides.

The decedent's wife preceded him in death nine years ago. He is survived by four sons and one daughter. Mrs. M. W. Long, Clintonville; Peter, Wausaukee; Nick, Kaukauna; Matt, this city; John, at the homestead.

TWO DRIVERS FINED FOR BREAKING SPEED LAW

Peter Van Boxtel of Little Chute and Vern Corey, 1915 S. Appleton St., were each fined $10 and costs Monday in municipal court when they pleaded guilty to charges of speeding. Van Boxtel was arrested at 4:30 Saturday afternoon by Police Officer Carl Radtke for traveling 30 miles per hour on College ave. and Corey was arrested a few hours later for going at a 25 mile per hour clip on S. Oneida-st.

WAUPACA-CO HAS AS MUCH IN CARS AS IN LIVESTOCK

These Two Totals Are Nearing Each Other, Assessment Report Shows

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca—The total valuation of all real estate and personal property in Waupaca co May 1, 1925 was set at $5,722,402. This total has been compiled by the Wisconsin tax commission, according to figures made public in a report by Leo J. Toonen, assessor of incomes, to Waupaca co board. Property valuation, both real estate and personal, of all townships, has been placed at $4,841,777, of which $30,808,000 is in real estate.

In the cities and villages the total valuation has been set at $2,850,925, and of this real estate. The average ratio of assessment to the given valuation for the entire county was 51 per cent. The township of Bear Creek has the highest aggregate true valuation, with the figures $2,344,528. The town of Laramie is next, with $2,301,225, and is followed closely by the town of Farmington. Of the three cities in the county New London leads in total valuation with $2,507,783, Clintonville second with $2,514,370, and Waupaca last with $2,244,975.

Throughout the entire county there are a total of 6,752 automobiles valued at $1,754,440. This amount is far in excess of the total valuation of all houses within the county, their value is placed at $572,201 for 10,592 homes. The most astonishing fact noticed in the comparison of the many figures in the report is that the automobile valuation is fast approaching the total valuation of all cattle within the county, including the dairy cow as well as other cattle. Waupaca co is noted as a potato and dairy center, and with this in mind one would expect that the value for the cattle would be far in excess of the cars. However a valuation of $2,048,818 for the cattle is being crowded by that of $1,754,440 for automobiles. The number of cattle was 32,813 and the town of Union second with 3,431 head. Other leaders in order are Little Wolf, Laramie, Dupont, and Scandinavia. An average valuation for the entire county is $35.98 a cow.

Bear Creek has the greatest number of horses, the count being 657 head. The town of Helveta has the least, 223 head. In the city of Waupaca there are 117 horses; in New London 57; in Clintonville 75. There were only 2,195 sheep in the county with a total valuation of $15,356, or an average value of $7 a head. The town of Little Wolf had the most, 214, and only 15 head were found in the town of Helveta. A total of 3,495 head of swine, with a valuation of $108,100 was reported. These have an average value of $20 a head. The greatest number were in Bear Creek township, and the least were found in the condensed districts of Wausaukee and Rocanion, where the numbers were 85 and 77 respectively.

The value of merchants' and manufacturers' stock is given at $2,174,665 for the entire county. Of this amount $1,110,618 is placed on the rolls of Clintonville.

BLAINE GUEST OF INAUGURATION OF PRES. WRISTON

Final Arrangements Are Made for Installation of New Head of College

With the announcement of the honorary committee and the final program of speakers, plans for the inauguration of Mr. Henry Merritt Wriston as president of Lawrence college Nov. 24 have been completed. Added interest came with the acceptance of Governor John J. Blaine of Wisconsin of an invitation to be present at the ceremonies. The governor will make no formal address, but probably will say a few words.

Dr. Silas Evans, president of Ripon college, will represent the meetings of the educational institutions of the state. Wilbur Henock, '28, of Milwaukee, will speak for the student body on the program. Dr. A. A. Trever, '36 of the Lawrence department of history will represent the college faculty, and Judson G. Rosebush will represent the trustees. Fannie Koonish Earl, of the class of 1877, will speak as the alumni representative.

The honorary installation committee is composed of twenty-one members, seven from the trustees, seven from the faculty, and seven from the alumni.

Trustees: Lewis Miller, Alexander

WEATHER IS FACTOR IN HONEY PRODUCTION

The annual honey crop of a colony of honeybees is dependent upon a considerable number of factors, part dealing with the activities of the bees and part from the various external factors influencing the secretion of nectar and the storing of it by the bees is one of these important factors. Although the weather is beyond the control of the beekeeper, a knowledge of the influence of weather factors upon honey crops in various parts of the country will be of great value in developing the best beekeeping regions of the United States.

To gain this knowledge it is first of all necessary to keep certain conditions under observation, recording at frequent and regular intervals the weight of each, and recording such accompanying phenomena of the weather as may reasonably be supposed to influence either the secretion of nectar or the activities of the bees. The results of making a careful record of this kind with two colonies of bees at the bee culture laboratory of the bureau of entomology, and the mathematical analysis of the records kept, are included in United States department of agriculture bulletin No. 1339, "The Effect of Weather upon the Change in Weight of a Colony of Bees during the Honey Flow," by James I. Hambleton, apiculturist in charge of the bee culture investigations of the department. The bulletin is of technical interest to beekeepers and others working on beekeeping subjects, and is available upon application to the department while the supply lasts.

Appleton: Robert Kirkland, Wolter, '06, Appleton.

James Spafford Reeve, '85, will be mastermaster at the installation banquet. Elizabeth Wilson, '30, of New York, and Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes of Chicago will be the speakers at this banquet.

There will be a reception for the president and Mrs. Wriston by the board of trustees from 3:30 to 5:30 in the afternoon of the 24th at the Carnegie library.

LONDON MAYOR LOOKING FOR FORMER RESIDENTS

George R. Wettengel has received a letter from the mayor of London, Yes, and the letter is signed by his honor, the mayor, himself. Only this communication happens to come from the mayor of London, Canada, not London, England. The letter tells of the Centennial Celebration to be held in London, Ontario, July 31 to Aug. 7, 1926, and asks that attention be called to this celebration at the next meeting of the Appleton Rotary club so that anyone who may have been a resident of London or vicinity will be notified of the affair. An effort is being made by the mayor, George A. Wengie, a Rotarian, to get in touch with all former residents of his city through the Rotary clubs of Canada and the United States.
